Linda Trimmer Week Claimed

Pickaway County's Board of Commissioners has proclaimed the July 11-16 as "Linda Trimmer Week."

The Commission issued the proclamation today. Miss Trimmer will represent six South Central Ohio counties in the Miss Ohio Pageant at Sandusky next week.

Linda, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James B. Trimmer, Route 4, received the crown of Miss South Central Ohio on June 11 during a preliminary event in Chillicothe.

On Sunday she will leave for Cedar Point at Sandusky for the week-long Miss Ohio Pageant. She and 31 other beautiful girls from all over the state will compete for the highly coveted beauty crown of Miss Ohio.

WINNER of the Miss Ohio title will enter the Miss America Pageant at Atlantic City this fall.

In their proclamation, the commissioners stated "in these changing times young ladies, who are the women of tomorrow, must discover and acquire the virtues of responsibility, thoughtfulness, morality and understanding. . . in recognition of Miss Trimmer's fine achievement we proclaim the week of July 11-16 as Linda Trimmer Week in Pickaway County."

Upon congratulating and extending best wishes to Linda, the county solons said they couldn't close the banks or declare a holiday, but "wished her all the luck in the world on behalf of all Pickaway Countians."

"I don't know what the United States is doing," Castro was quoted. "First the shooting of the Cuban at Guantanamo, then Nicaragua offering itself as a base for invaders of Cuba and the Cuban exiles forming a government in exile."

"It looks to me as if Washington is planning something."

Castro was quoted as saying he no longer sees any immediate possibility of rapprochement with the United States, nor does he seek one.

"Not with Johnson," he said. "That is impossible. The United States today is following the worst possible policy in the entire world — the worst possible. Every day the weapons get worse, and the American people accept them, just as the Germans did."

ALAMOGORDO, N.M. (AP) — Army Spc. 6 Gerald L. Smith, 48, a career soldier wounded twice in Viet Nam, has brought home the body of his soldier son, killed in combat in Viet Nam June 30.

Smith arrived Tuesday night with the body of Army Pfc. Danny L. Smith, 22. Meeting them were Mrs. Smith and her only other child, Darrell Smith, 20, who had completed his first week of Army basic training at Ft. Bliss, Tex., when he learned of his brother's death.

Woman, Son Drown In Ohio Motel Pool

LORAIN, Ohio (AP)—Edward Sutton, 38, was in a motel room watching his 8-month-old daughter, Susan, when he was notified his wife and son had drowned in the motel's swimming pool.

Police found Mrs. Edward Sutton, 33, of Tonawanda, N.Y., and her son Donald, 7, floating in about six feet of water at the pool in nearby North Ridgeville.

Another son, Keith, 3, was outside near the pool. The family was on vacation, police said.

July Is Critical Crop Month

Lack of Rain Hits Two-Thirds of Ohio

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—A dry spring has made July a critical month for crops in about two-thirds of Ohio's farmland.

If the month is anywhere as dry as was June, crops that are relying mostly on sub-soil moisture now will be severely hurt by the lack of rain. State Agriculture Director John M. Stackhouse said today.

The federal government's new state climatologist for Ohio, Marvin Miller, agreed: "A dry July would be quite critical."

Miller made his appraisal after completing a rainfall report for the April-May-June period and after studying crop reports from county agricultural agents. Two-thirds of the county agents reported deficient moisture in the upper layer of soil on July 1.

The three-month rainfall report shows that two areas in Ohio, on opposite sides of the state, received so little rain that they rated as "severe drought" areas for the period.

They are an area around Steubenville, including Jefferson County and parts of Columbiana, Carroll, Harrison and Belmont counties, and a larger area including Mercer and parts of Van Wert, Auglaize, Shelby, Darke and Miami counties.

Other areas, mostly in the southern third of the state had rainfall deficiency ratings almost as low.

But throughout the state, crops are only a week or less behind schedule, the county agents report, and this is mostly due to late planting.

"A good sub-soil reserve of moisture has saved us," Stackhouse explains.

Now the July weather watch is on. The U.S. Weather Bureau 30-day forecast is for above normal temperatures in Ohio and near normal rainfall.

If the heat wave continues, rainfall amounts could be deceiving. Hot weather causes evaporation that robs the soil of moisture.

Midwest Hit By Series Of Storms

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

A series of severe thunderstorms and tornadoes blasted through five Midwestern states Tuesday.

Moderate damage and minimal injuries were reported. Tornadoes and funnel clouds were sighted in several Chicago suburbs, near Minneapolis, Peoria, Ill., and Richmond, Ind.

Seven small twisters touched down in the Minneapolis suburbs of Brooklyn Park, Brooklyn Center and Maple Grove, uprooting trees and damaging three homes.

Power lines were downed in many areas. Civil defense sirens in downtown Minneapolis warned pedestrians to take cover. Suburban police used portable public address systems to warn of the tornado danger.

In Vandalia, Ill., midnight thunderstorms knocked down power lines, causing several small fires. Power was knocked out for 30 minutes in sections of Vandalia.

Wind gusts of up to 100 miles an hour were recorded at Mid Continent Airport at Kansas City. Other reports of high winds included Ottumwa, Iowa, 86 miles, Springfield, Ill., 60 miles and Joliet, Ill., 58 miles.

Ex-Sen. Byrd Felled by Tumor

BERRYVILLE, V. (AP) — Former U. S. Sen. Harry F. Byrd Sr., longtime head of Virginia's conservative Democratic party organization, is suffering from a brain tumor.

A source close to the Byrd family said Tuesday night that there has been a "steady deterioration" in the 79-year-old former senator's condition, and that he is partially paralyzed.

Byrd, who was hospitalized for a short time in March, was reported seriously ill at his home here last week. However, family spokesmen have declined to specify the nature of his illness.

Byrd, a former Virginia governor, retired from the Senate last November after serving for 32 years. A son, Harry F. Byrd Jr., was appointed to succeed him.

3 California White Men Held

SACRAMENTO, Calif. (AP) — Shotgun blasts from a moving car killed two Negro transients Tuesday night in Sacramento's skid row area. Police arrested three white men.

The victims, shot in the neck and groin, fell in the Old Sacramento district made up of flop houses, abandoned buildings dating from the gold rush, saloons, a strip tease joint, cheap restaurants and small motion picture houses.

Arrested were three young men from towns across the Sacramento River, to the west.

Police, citing recent U. S. Supreme Court decisions concerning the rights of defendants, refused to give details. They said they had not established a motive.

The dead, one of whom fell on the south side of J Street and the other on the north side, were identified from Social Security cards found in their pockets as Harry Brown and Ernest Martin. Their ages and home towns were not available.

Police Chief Joseph Rooney declared: "As far as I'm concerned, there are no racial overtones" to the shooting.

His attitude was backed by Robert Puglia, Sacramento County chief deputy district attorney, who said: "There is no reason to believe on the evidence available that this incident was racially motivated."

He added: "I can't give any motive on the basis of the information we have."

"From all the recent court decisions, we have no information we can give you," Rooney told reporters.

Jack Kearns, a detective captain, said the arrested men had been booked for a murder investigation. He identified them as: Bill Howard Fallon, 23, Broderick; Epifanio Gutierrez, 21, and Arnold Lynn Lachenauer, 17, both of Bryte.

Ohio Retail Wage Floor Is Studied

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Industrial Relations Director William O. Walker took another step today toward setting a minimum wage for women and minors in retail trades.

Walker conducted a public hearing, required by law, on recommendations of a wage board to set a $1.25 an hour minimum to cover about 100,000 retail employees.

The recommendation of the board would exempt parttime employees from the minimum pay.

After the hearing, Walker may either accept or reject the board's proposal. If accepted, the minimum wage would take effect about Sept. 1. If rejected, another wage board could be convened to make new recommendations.

A special board was impaneled to study retail wages of women and minors under a provision calling for such a board any time 50 or more employees of an industry petition for a wage study.

LONDON (AP) — The government Road Research Laboratory says serious accidents decreased 13 per cent in the first four months after speed limits were put on 100,000 miles of major British roads.

The report indicated that the Ministry of Transport would maintain the speed limits despite vigorous protests from some drivers' organizations and sports car enthusiasts. The limits are 50 miles an hour on heavily traveled trunk roads and 70 miles on superhighways.

Johnson Voices Optimism about Victory in Viet

JOHNSON CITY, Tex. (AP) — President Johnson, declaring the Communists know they cannot win a military victory in Viet Nam, has voiced optimism that "we are on the way" to solving the Vietnam problem.

Johnson planned a series of Viet Nam conferences at his ranch home near here tonight, summoning Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara, roving Ambassador W. Averell Harriman and other military and diplomatic advisers for an overnight business visit.

The President expressed an optimistic view of the war during a news conference Tuesday on the front lawn of his ranch — cue buffet lunch served by Mrs. Johnson and daughter Luci.

Taking the wraps off a top secret message from the Pentagon, Johnson cited estimates that stepped-up bombing raids on the Hanoi-Haiphong area have wiped out 57 per cent of North Viet Nam's petroleum storage facilities. He said 87 per cent of all storage capacity has been hit during the raids that began last week.

Other conference highlights: —Discussing racial problems, Johnson indirectly chided militant Negro leaders by asserting: "We are not interested in black power and we are not interested in white power, but we are interested in American democratic power, with a small 'd.'" Some militants have

'Black Power' Concept Rejected by NAACP Chief

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Roy Wilkins, executive director of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People, looks upon the concept of "black power" as "the father of hatred and the mother of violence."

Wilkins condemned the concept in these words Tuesday night as he opened the NAACP's annual convention with a keynote address to 2,000 delegates.

"We of the NAACP will have none of this," he said. "It shall not now poison our forward march."

"Black power" in the quick, uncritical and highly emotional adoption it has received from some segments of a beleaguered people can mean only black death," Wilkins emphasized. "Even if it should be enthroned briefly, the human spirit would die a little."

The director also criticized the adoption of a resolution by the Congress of Racial Equality calling for retaliation by Negroes against acts of violence.

While stressing that the NAACP has never "signed a pact to turn the cheek forever," Wilkins said: "It seems reasonable to assume that proclaimed protective violence is as likely to encourage counterviolence as it is to discourage violent persecution."

Instead, said Wilkins, the NAACP should choose as its weapons in the fight for Negro freedom the ballot, participation in government as elected public servants, and efforts to gain increased employment, fair housing and unsegregated public education.

In New York Tuesday, Dr. Martin Luther King Jr. said he understood the slogan "black power" to mean "an appeal to racial pride, an appeal to the Negro not to be ashamed of being black and the transfer of the powerlessness of the Negro into positive, constructive power."

He said Tuesday he would not use the term in directing his organization, the Southern Christian Leadership Conference.

King called on users of the term in the civil rights movement to clarify what they mean by it.

raised "black power" as a battle cry. —Turning to politics, the President said "as time permits, I will be traveling throughout the country" in the four months between now and the November elections. He said that if he continues his recent travel rate, he could cover all 50 states by late October.

—The latest budget deficit, he reported, will be "far below" the $6.4-billion estimate he gave Congress in January. He said final figures for the fiscal year that ended June 30 aren't yet available, however.

In one of his opening announcements at the conference, the first since last August to be broadcast live by the television-radio networks, Johnson disclosed tentative plans to cut down planned purchases of bombs and ammunition for Viet Nam.

He said McNamara tells him substantial reductions in projected production rates may be desirable within three to six months, at a savings of several hundred million dollars. Right now, Johnson said, ordnance inventories are ample and production exceeds usage in Viet Nam. He said he doesn't want to be stuck with $12 billion of worthless and obsolete military hardware when the war ends — which he said was the case after the Korean War.

"Black power has not been clearly defined. It's still ambiguous," he said. "Until there is a definite program, one must raise the question of whether it will get off the ground even in counties (in the South) where Negroes are in the majority."

"It gives the impression that we want to substitute one form of tyranny for another," King said.

"I have not lost faith in nonviolence."

The term "black power" was used during the James Meredith Mississippi march as a rallying cry by Stokely Carmichael, chairman of the Student Nonviolent Coordinating Committee.

Council Approves Disposal Lagoon

Circleville Council, seeking periodic renewal of a permit to discharge treated waste into the Scioto River, Tuesday night authorized construction of a sludge disposal lagoon.

Erection of the lagoon is one of the conditions set down by the Ohio Water Pollution Control Board in granting discharge approval. The city's present permit expires Sept. 15.

Moving to meet the Pollution Control Board requirement, the solons enacted an ordinance appropriating $2,000 for the lagoon construction. The facility will be adjacent to the disposal plant just west of the C&O Railroad.

The ordinance also provided for construction without advertising for bids due to the short time period between now and Sept. 15. This step was taken under state law which stipulates

Mission Total Is All-Time High

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP) — American warplanes dodged a heavy onslaught of Soviet-made missiles over North Viet Nam's Red River Valley Tuesday during one of the heaviest raiding days of the war.

The U.S. military command announced at a briefing today that 27 to 29 surface-to-air missiles had been fired at U. S. planes. A few hours later, however, official spokesman reported there may have been some duplicate sightings in the accounts from pilots.

The spokesman said it probably would be at least 12 hours before intelligence reports could be sorted out and a definite figure established.

The original announcement said it had been the largest number of missiles fired in a single day since the beginning of the air war and despite the confusion later, it obviously represented a day of heavy missile activity. The largest number of missiles sighted previously was 12 one day last March and it was believed Tuesday's firings exceeded that total.

The missiles were fired from sites in the Red River Valley 50 to 115 miles north and northwest of Hanoi, U.S. Air Force pilots reported wrecking four of the site and also hitting two full depots within 33 miles of the North Vietnamese capital.

One of the oil storage areas was 28 miles north of Hanoi, the other 33 miles northwest.

Air Force and carrier-based Navy jets flew a total of 106 multiple missions, a new high in the 16-month air war. But a spokesman said the missions did not involve a record number of planes.

A mission usually involves three or four planes which may make several sorties or single strikes against targets.

CINCINNATI (AP)—Kenneth B. Moffett has been charged with the robberies of two Cincinnati financial institutions that netted almost $21,000.

FBI agents said Moffett escaped from a Florida prison camp Nov. 19 and on Nov. 26 and robbed the Hunter Savings & Loan Co. at suburban Norwood of $2,886. He also was charged with the $8,000 robbery of a branch of the Provident Bank on March 18. Agents said Moffett was serving a life term for armed robbery in Florida.

Council Approves Disposal Lagoon

Circleville Council, seeking periodic renewal of a permit to discharge treated waste into the Scioto River, Tuesday night authorized construction of a sludge disposal lagoon.

Erection of the lagoon is one of the conditions set down by the Ohio Water Pollution Control Board in granting discharge approval. The city's present permit expires Sept. 15.

Moving to meet the Pollution Control Board requirement, the solons enacted an ordinance appropriating $2,000 for the lagoon construction. The facility will be adjacent to the disposal plant just west of the C&O Railroad.

The ordinance also provided for construction without advertising for bids due to the short time period between now and Sept. 15. This step was taken under state law which stipulates such work may be performed on an emergency basis, provided two-thirds of all council members approve. The legislation carried on a 6-0 vote, with solon Robert Turner absent.

ACCORDING to Evlin F. Leist, public utilities head about one acre of ground will be excavated and made ready for lagoon purposes. He said pre-work plans allow for future expansion or alternatives, if needed, at minimum cost.

Councilman John Jenkins lodged a question concerning odors that might originate at the lagoon, a problem that has plagued the city before during warm weather. Leist said the smell, if any, could more easily be treated with chemicals under the new lagoon system.

In other legislative action the lawmakers approved an amendment

Career Soldier Brings Body of His Son Home

ALAMOGORDO, N.M. (AP) — Army Spc. 6 Gerald L. Smith, 48, a career soldier wounded twice in Viet Nam, has brought home the body of his soldier son, killed in combat in Viet Nam June 30.

Smith arrived Tuesday night with the body of Army Pfc. Danny L. Smith, 22. Meeting them were Mrs. Smith and her only other child, Darrell Smith, 20, who had completed his first week of Army basic training at Ft. Bliss, Tex., when he learned of his brother's death.

"I'll bring myself home," Danny had written to a friend in a letter dated the day before the young soldier was killed. "These people can't hurt me."

He would have been 23 today. "I'll be an old gray man," he wrote.

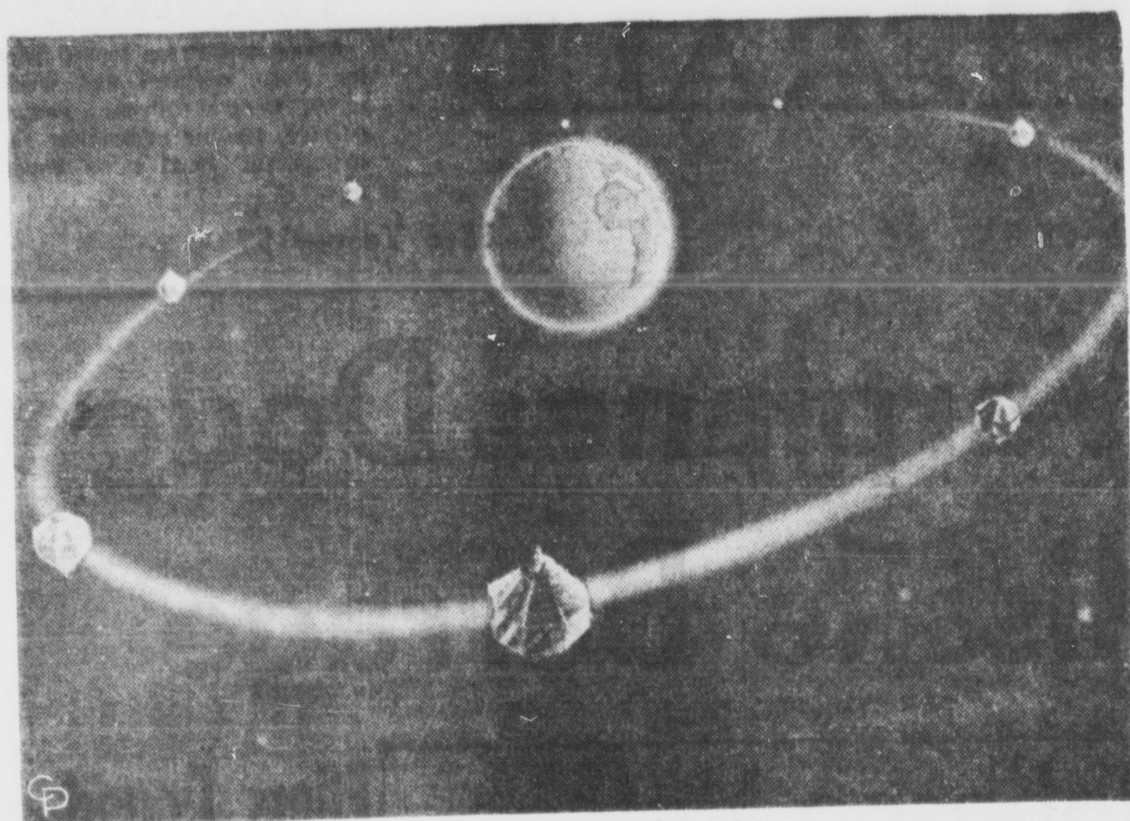

Details of the action that filled him were not available. Services were pending today at the nearby Holloman Air Force Base chapel with burial at the Ft. Bliss cemetery.

The elder Smith, nearing retirement from the Army, went to Viet Nam last December with an Army helicopter unit. His son left Ft. Bliss for Viet Nam in January. Danny was with a 1st Infantry unit.

The Smiths, father and son, met last May in Viet Nam. Danny's unit was moving along a road when he saw his father standing nearby. There was a brief reunion.

The next day, Danny's mother reported earlier, her husband was called to Danny's unit. His son had been wounded, but not seriously, in a mine explosion.

Maumee Water Case Is Booked

DEFIANCE, Ohio (AP)—The 15-judge court for the Maumee Watershed Conservancy District has set Sept. 7 as the date for hearings on four proposed new sections of the district's $3.5 million improvement plan for the Little Auglaize River and tributaries.

The date was set after the plans were adopted by the district's board of directors and filed with the court as required by law.

The proposed new sections are Dog, Upper Prairie, and Tagerman creeks and the Little Auglaize River south of Middle-point, a total of about 50 miles.

These are in addition to the district's original plans for the main portion of the Little Auglaize River, and Town, Mad-dox-Middle, and Hoaglin - Prairie creeks. The total program involves improvement of 137 miles of channel in Van Wert, Paulding, Putnam and Mercer counties.

The district's official plan now conforms to work plans developed by the U.S. Soil Conservation Service, thus making all the improvements eligible for federal cost sharing under Public Law 566, known as the National Watershed Protection and Flood Prevention Act.

Teamsters To Pay Hoffa Court Bills

MIAMI BEACH, Fla. (AP)—Cheering Teamsters Union delegates gave their twice convicted president, James R. Hoffa, a blank check today to pay for his legal expenses.

A resolution approving the use of Teamsters funds for nearly $1 million in pending legal bills also authorized payment from the treasury for any and all future and past legal expenses.

"Because of a few selfish politicians, the Teamsters have to buy their freedom," said one of about a dozen delegates speaking in favor of the resolution.

No one spoke against it but after it was approved by a two minute standing, cheering vote, Hoffa asked for opposing votes. One lone delegate, Larry Thomas of Philadelphia, stood up in the crowded convention auditorium.

Hoffa faces sentences of 13 years in prison on jury tampering and mail fraud convictions. Appeals have been taken. A new federal investigation into the use of Teamsters pension funds is currently under way.

In 1964, Hoffa quit using money from the union treasury for his huge legal expenses which the Labor Department said amounted to more than $500,000 over several years.

Reds Changing Berlin Wall

BERLIN (AP)—East German soldiers started tearing down the Berlin wall today where it runs behind the Reichstag building, apparently as a first step toward replacing it with a fence.

A detail of soldiers, guarded against escape to West Berlin by others who had submachine guns and dogs, started smashing a hole in the wall at 6:50 a.m.

An hour and a half later, portable barbed wire fences had been carried through the 10-foot gap and set up about four yards in front of the wall. The official border between East and West Berlin often is in front of the wall.

Ohio Klan Host Slated For Arrest

LEBANON, Ohio (AP)—The Warren County sheriff's office obtained a warrant Tuesday night for the arrest of Parkie Scott, organizer and host for a Ku Klux Klan rally last week-end.

Capt. Roy Wallace of the sheriff's office said Sheriff Bryon Kennard signed the affidavit on which the warrant, charging interference with a police officer, was obtained.

Scott, who works in Dayton but has a farm near Oregonia, was not at home Tuesday night but Capt. Wallace said officers planned to arrest him today.

Issuance of the warrant stemmed from a disturbance Saturday night at the Klan rally on Scott's farm. Deputy sheriffs had arrested two persons for violation of an Ohio law prohibiting the wearing of masks as a disguise but they were prevented from leaving the farm for about a half hour.

Sheriff Kennard said today the exit was blocked by a pickup truck and that Scott was standing on a low stump in the middle of the exit. He said he warned Scott he might be subject to arrest.

The sheriff said there was considerable milling around and shouting at the scene.

Kennard said there were about 20 persons wearing Klan robes but that the two arrested were the only ones wearing face-covering hoods.

Willard Stapleton, 42, of Miamisburg, one of those arrested, failed to show up Tuesday night for a hearing in Warren County Court for his arrest and Capt. Wallace said officers hoped to find him today.

Mrs. Estelle Foster, 58, of Mapleton, Ga., arrested with Stapleton was released on her own recognizance and is scheduled to appear July 11 for a hearing.

Rhodes Aide Warns of Tax Boost

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Finance Director Richard Krabach said today it would be necessary to triple Ohio's general revenue taxes to meet all the demands for additional state services.

In a statement issued at the National Governors Conference in Los Angeles, Krabach estimated the demands at $1.32 billion above present state revenues.

He said the demands came from pressure groups, special interest spokesmen, lobbyists and others wanting increased benefits in welfare, higher education, mental health and similar fields.

As an example, he said, the increase would be $220 million for higher welfare benefits above the present outlay of $255 million a year in state funds.

Krabach stressed in a telephone conversation with an Associated Press newsmen in Columbus that none of these demands were the recommendation of Gov. James A. Rhodes' administration.

"They are not our ideas," he said.

Aussie Chief Urges Europeans Aid U.S.

NEW YORK (AP)—Australian Prime Minister Harold E. Holt says Western European nations aren't helping the United States as much as they should to solve the problems of Southeast Asia.

Holt, who is visiting the United States, said in New York Tuesday:

"I don't think that Western Europe generally is giving the assistance it should. The major effort has been left to the United States."

Water, Sewage Facilities Sought

A petition seeking city water and sewage facilities for the Isaac Subdivision was presented for consideration during Tuesday night's Circleville Council session.

The request listed more than 50 signatures of owners and freeholders. The section, in Circleville Twp., generally includes Ray Ave., Faye Ave., Brown St., John St., Lincoln Ave., Eva Drive and Renick Road.

Although the petition made reference only to securing water and sewage facilities, council spokesmen said numerous property owners there have expressed a willingness to be annexed to the city.

Several observers felt annexation would be the logical procedure to follow in order for the city to provide water and sewage service to the subdivision.

COUNCIL, taking no immediate legislative action on the petition, referred it to the Service Committee for study and evaluation. It was pointed out that any extension of water and sewage facilities probably would be done under an assessment basis.

A communication from the State Highway Department noted that the E. Main St. extension project, completed late last year, has been inspected and approved. The city, according to the letter, met all construction obligations and will now assume maintenance responsibility.

Councilmen John Simison and John Jenkins reported numerous complaints concerning burning of trash and rubbish in which obnoxious odors result. They requested an ordinance regulating this practice be enforced.

In other business, the solons set the date for a public hearing on the city's budget for 1967. The hearing will precede Council's regular 8 p. m. session on July 19.

Ex-Nursing Home Chief's Hearing Set

CLEVELAND (AP)—Eugene H. Woods, former nursing home operator wanted here on a charge of embezzlement, will have an extradition hearing Aug. 29 in New Orleans.

Woods, who was arrested near New Orleans last July 1, is wanted on a charge that he embezzled some $15,000 in 1962 from John Huggins, a World War I veteran who since has died.

Huggins was a patient in one of the nursing homes Woods operated in Akron, Cleveland and Norwalk, Ohio.

Louisiana Gov. John J. McKeithen ordered Woods returned to Cleveland following his arrest by the FBI. The Louisiana Supreme Court recently refused to hear anti-extradition motions, and the new hearing was set.

Woods fled from Ohio with a nurse, Angelle Mahl, after Akron authorities charged him and Miss Mahl with operating a nursing home at an Akron hotel without a license.

Maumee Water Case Is Booked

DEFIANCE, Ohio (AP)—The 15-judge court for the Maumee Watershed Conservancy District has set Sept. 7 as the date for hearings on four proposed new sections of the district's $5.5 million improvement plan for the Little Auglaize River and tributaries.

The date was set after the plans were adopted by the district's board of directors and filed with the court as required by law.

The proposed new sections are Dog, Upper Prairie, and Tagerman creeks and the Little Auglaize River south of Middlepoint, a total of about 50 miles.

These are in addition to the district's original plans for the main portion of the Little Auglaize River, and Town, Mad-dox-Middle, and Hoaglin - Prairie creeks. The total program involves improvement of 187 miles of channel in Van Wert, Paulding, Putnam and Mercer counties.

The district's official plan now conforms to work plans developed by the U. S. Soil Conservation Service, thus making all the improvements eligible for federal cost sharing under Public Law 566, known as the National Watershed Protection and Flood Prevention Act.

Teamsters To Pay Hoffa Court Bills

MIAMI BEACH, Fla. (AP)—Cheering Teamsters Union delegates gave their twice convicted president, James R. Hoffa, a blank check today to pay for his legal expenses.

A resolution approving the use of Teamsters funds for nearly $1 million in pending legal bills also authorized payment from the treasury for any and all future and past legal expenses.

"Because of a few selfish politicians, the Teamsters have to buy their freedom," said one of about a dozen delegates speaking in favor of the resolution.

No one spoke against it but after it was approved by a two minute standing, cheering vote, Hoffa asked for opposing votes. One lone delegate, Larry Thomas of Philadelphia, stood up in the crowded convention auditorium.

Hoffa faces sentences of 13 years in prison on jury tampering and mail fraud convictions. Appeals have been taken. A new federal investigation into the use of Teamsters pension funds is currently under way.

In 1964, Hoffa quit using money from the union treasury for his huge legal expenses which the Labor Department said amounted to more than $500,000 over several years.

Reds Changing Berlin Wall

BERLIN (AP)—East German soldiers started tearing down the Berlin wall today where it runs behind the Reichstag building, apparently as a first step toward replacing it with a fence.

A detail of soldiers, guarded against escape to West Berlin by others who had submachine guns and dogs, started smashing a hole in the wall at 6:50 a.m.

An hour and a half later, portable barbed wire fences had been carried through the 10-foot gap and set up about four yards in front of the wall. The official border between East and West Berlin often is in front of the wall.

Ohio Klan Host Slated For Arrest

LEBANON, Ohio (AP)—The Warren County sheriff's office obtained a warrant Tuesday night for the arrest of Parkie Scott, organizer and host for a Ku Klux Klan rally last weekend.

Capt. Roy Wallace of the sheriff's office said Sheriff Bryon Kennard signed the affidavit on which the warrant, charging interference with a police officer, was obtained.

Scott, who works in Dayton but has a farm near Oregonia, was not at home Tuesday night but Capt. Wallace said officers planned to arrest him today.

Issuance of the warrant stemmed from a disturbance Saturday night at the Klan rally on Scott's farm. Deputy sheriffs had arrested two persons for violation of an Ohio law prohibiting the wearing of masks as a disguise but they were prevented from leaving the farm for about a half hour.

Sheriff Kennard said today the exit was blocked by a pickup truck and that Scott was standing on a low stump in the middle of the exit. He said he warned Scott he might be subject to arrest.

The sheriff said there was considerable milling around and shouting at the scene.

Kennard said there were about 20 persons wearing Klan robes but that the two arrested were the only ones wearing face-covering hoods.

Willard Stapleton, 42, of Miamisburg, one of those arrested, failed to show up Tuesday night for a hearing in Warren County Court for his arrest and Capt. Wallace said officers hoped to find him today.

Mrs. Estelle Foster, 58, of Mapleton, Ga., arrested with Stapleton was released on her own recognizance and is scheduled to appear July 11 for a hearing.

Rhodes Aide Warns of Tax Boost

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Finance Director Richard Krabach said today it would be necessary to triple Ohio's general revenue taxes to meet all the demands for additional state services.

In a statement issued at the National Governors Conference in Los Angeles, Krabach estimated the demands at $1.32 billion above present state revenues.

He said the demands came from pressure groups, special interest spokesmen, lobbyists and others wanting increased benefits in welfare, higher education, mental health and similar fields.

As an example, he said, the increase would be $220 million for higher welfare benefits above the present outlay of $255 million a year in state funds.

Krabach stressed in a telephone conversation with an Associated Press newsmen in Columbus that none of these demands were the recommendation of Gov. James A. Rhodes' administration.

"They are not our ideas," he said.

Aussie Chief Urges Europeans Aid U.S.

NEW YORK (AP)—Australian Prime Minister Harold E. Holt says Western European nations aren't helping the United States as much as they should to solve the problems of Southeast Asia.

Holt, who is visiting the United States, said in New York Tuesday:

"I don't think that Western Europe generally is giving the assistance it should. The major effort has been left to the United States."

Water, Sewage Facilities Sought

A petition seeking city water and sewage facilities for the Isaac Subdivision was presented for consideration during Tuesday night's Circleville Council session.

The request listed more than 50 signatures of owners and freeholders. The section, in Circleville Twp., generally includes Ray Ave., Faye Ave., Brown St., John St., Lincoln Ave., Eva Drive and Renick Road.

Although the petition made reference only to securing water and sewage facilities, council spokesmen said numerous property owners there have expressed a willingness to be annexed to the city.

Several observers felt annexation would be the logical procedure to follow in order for the city to provide water and sewage service to the subdivision.

COUNCIL, taking no immediate legislative action on the petition, referred it to the Service Committee for study and evaluation. It was pointed out that any extension of water and sewage facilities probably would be done under an assessment basis.

A communication from the State Highway Department noted that the E. Main St. extension project, completed late last year, has been inspected and approved. The city, according to the letter, met all construction obligations and will now assume maintenance responsibility.

Councilmen John Simison and John Jenkins reported numerous complaints concerning burning of trash and rubbish in which obnoxious odors result. They requested an ordinance regulating this practice be enforced.

In other business, the solons set the date for a public hearing on the city's budget for 1967. The hearing will precede Council's regular 8 p. m. session on July 19.

Ex-Nursing Home Chief's Hearing Set

CLEVELAND (AP)—Eugene H. Woods, former nursing home operator wanted here on a charge of embezzlement, will have an extradition hearing Aug. 29 in New Orleans.

Woods, who was arrested near New Orleans last July 1, is wanted on a charge that he embezzled some $15,000 in 1962 from John Huggins, a World War I veteran who since has died.

Huggins was a patient in one of the nursing homes Woods operated in Akron, Cleveland and Norwalk, Ohio.

Louisiana Gov. John J. McKeithen ordered Woods returned to Cleveland following his arrest by the FBI. The Louisiana Supreme Court recently refused to hear anti-extradition motions, and the new hearing was set.

Woods fled from Ohio with a nurse, Angele Mahl, after Akron authorities charged him and Miss Mahl with operating a nursing home at an Akron hotel without a license.

Red Role in Ghana

Evidence that deposed President Nkrumah of Ghana was communism's man in Africa is contained in thousands of documents, subversive materials and weapons discovered by the military government that has taken over.

Nkrumah's network of subversion, whose objective was a continental union government for all Africa, was linked to the Soviet Union, East Germany and Red China. Each of these countries had cadres of agents operating under a variety of fronts inside Ghana.

Each of the independent African states was assigned an agent-in-charge.

'Authority' Fade Out

It is significant for the future of state and local governments that the "authority," established with taxing powers to do special jobs, is running out. This is especially true in the eastern states where it has been used longest.

An authority creates a feeling of special magic. When there is a desire for something that cannot be financed out of ordinary revenues, an authority is created and it is bought anyway. State and municipal authorities are discovering that this drains off revenues just as effectively as if the project had been put in the regular budget.

Originally created to by-pass debt limits, many of the authorities were so efficient that there was a scramble to adopt them. Now it is found that they menace the existence of local government as they increase in numbers.

"Freedom fighters" were recruited in many countries and dispatched to camps in Ghana operated by Chinese specialists in guerilla warfare.

The picture is indicative of the ceaseless struggle that must be waged in defense of freedom. Thwarted as they may have been in Ghana, the agents of international subversion doubtless are at work elsewhere, striving to make up for their setback.

Discovery of the caches uncovered in Ghana ought to give pause to those who think the CIA ought to be converted into a backslapping organization.

Many authorities are transferring funds to areas not originally intended. Tolls meant to stop when the project was paid for, continue indefinitely. These extractions add to the tax burdens of the people.

The thinking in the region of the oldest authorities is that they are an expression of the inefficiency of local government. Problems seem almost insoluble, so a second force in local government is created which, unless checked, will dominate the first force.

This suggests that the "authority" device is running out. There may be times when a necessary project can be undertaken in no other way. But resort to the device is likely to be less frequent in the future.

The Business World

NEW YORK (AP) — The dollar doesn't go as far as it used to. Even so, most other countries have more room for complaint.

Despite all the unpleasantness of the rising cost of living here, other lands have seen a bigger erosion of the market value of their currency in the last 12 or 18 months. And as here, higher food prices often have been the main culprit.

If you figure the market value of the local money as an even 100 in 1955 the U.S. dollar was worth 85 cents in 1965. Only three other countries bat that mark. In El Salvador and Guatemala the local currency still bought the same amount of goods and services 10 years later, as measured by cost of living index. In Venezuela the currency's index value is 89. And in Ecuador it's also 85, as in the United States.

Everywhere else the drop has been pretty bad over the long stretch, right down to the example of Brazil where an index value of 100 in 1955 is a lowly 31 in 1966.

The performance of money in 1965, when the cost of living started climbing in the United States to everyone's discomfort, shows Americans ahead of the game by comparison. In a compilation of the depreciation of the value of money in 45 countries in the last 10 years, the First National City Bank, New York, reports that the decline in 1965 was steeper in 31 of the lands than had been the 10 year average.

The one-year drop was 1.7 per cent in the United States. In Canada the drop was 2.3 per cent. France saw a 2.4 per cent slide. But this bettered its previous experience. The annual rate over the 1955-65 period had been 4.6 per cent in France. Fiscal policies to fight rising inflation apparently were helping France at least slacken the upward pace of the cost of living.

Depreciation in the value of the local money in West Germany, Switzerland and Belgium was held for the 1965 period to

Try and Stop Me

By BENNETT CERF

FROM DETROIT comes the story of a compassionate bird lover who hung an elaborate new seed-bell in her garden at Christmas time. By the end of January, however, not a single feathered friend had fluttered in to partake of her largesse. So she hung a sign on the seed-bell proclaiming, "Endorsed by Duncan Hines."

Mox Lindquist tells about the Swedish farmhand who overslept because his alarm clock failed to go off. When he finally awoke, he gave his clock an angry shake and out fell a dead cockroach. "No wonder clock stopped," nodded the Swede. "De engineer han dead!"

The late Somerset Maugham loved to tell about his first meeting with Harpo Marx. The latter explained unashamedly, "The first time I heard your name, sir, I thought Somerset Maugham was a town in England, like Epsom Downs or Stratford-on-Avon!"

When a friend was knighted, E. V. Lucas, editor of Punch, wasted no words in his congratulatory wire. It read: "My dear sir."

Speaking of YOUR HEALTH...

By LESTER L. COLEMAN, M.D.

Is it safe for anyone with a heart or lung condition to travel in high altitude?

There is no single rule that will apply to all people of all ages for travel in high altitudes. People with mild respiratory and heart ailments can, with permission of their physician, adjust to most altitudes.

Generally, very high altitudes, marked heat and severe cold add an unnecessary burden on the heart and lungs. Simple exercise at sea level can become stressful under unusual climatic and barometric conditions.

When a person has been given permission by his physician to go into high altitudes he must not persist in staying there if there is marked palpitation, chest pain or severe shortness of breath. He should immediately return to a lower, more comfortable and safer altitude.

What is the immediate treatment for a sprained ankle?

Keep off the foot until the exact extent of the injury is established by a physician. Don't try to "walk it off" even if there is only moderate pain. If a dislocation or a fracture is present limitless harm can be caused.

The immediate application of ice and cold compresses to the swollen area helps to reduce the swelling and relieves some of the discomfort.

Later an X-ray of the ankle can rule out the possibility of any serious injury. Then many of the new forms of treatment, injection and taping can help the healing process and return the ankle to normal.

Speaking of your health — Get up and stretch your legs after sitting in one position at home or in an automobile for more than two hours.

Slightly Embarrassing

The smart people at Radio Liberty, which monitors whatever is being said over the air in the Soviet Union, have noticed a recurring peculiarity in de Gaulle's method of addressing crowds as he has gone from one Communist reception to another during his visit to the socialist fatherland. He has invariably made it a point to say "Long live Russia", and he always seemed to be saying it in Russian, not in French.

The opinion of the Radio Liberty experts is that there is more in this than meets the ear. For to the Soviets, "Russia" and the ethnic Russian people constitute only a half of the multi-national Soviet Union. Indeed, the slogan "Long live Russia" has been frowned upon by the Kremlin ever since the Red armies, by dint of conquest in the Caucasus, Kazakhstan, the Ukraine, Turkmenistan and elsewhere, put together the present-day Union of Soviet Socialist Republics in the Nineteen Twenties. The Kremlin doesn't like to be reminded that the conquest moved outward from Moscow, the Russian capital. To an older generation with long memories, "Long live Russia" has a pre-revolutionary, if not a counter-revolutionary, connotation — and it must seem faintly disturbing to the crowds that have turned out to listen to Le Grand Charles bring greetings to the Soviet peoples from France.

De Gaulle, of course, is a nationalist to whom ideology is only important when it can be used as a counter in the game of diplomacy. It would be natural for him to think of the Soviet Union as "Russia." But he is also an intelligent man with a sense of history, and his manipulation of the slogan "Long live Russia" could hardly be unconscious. The Radio Liberty experts point out that one of de Gaulle's chief advisers on Soviet policy is a man of Russian emigre origin named Andronikov. Surely, with the expert briefing that is available to him, de Gaulle must realize that the concept of nationalism, in the Soviet Union, has unsettling potentialities.

So what is de Gaulle up to when he invokes a slogan that could only remind Ukrainians, Kazakhs, Tartars, Armenians, Latvians, Lithuanians, Bessarabians and Jews of their conquered status in the Soviet Union? A Soviet Communist, shouting "Long live Russia," would be accused of "bourgeois nationalism." They can't shoot a Frenchman for twanging nationist strings, but the subtle insult conveyed by de Gaulle's harping on "Russianness" as he is taken about the Soviet Empire must be a bit unnerving to Brezhnev and Kosygin.

De Gaulle has often defined Europe as stretching from "the Atlantic to the Urals." Where does this leave the many peoples of Siberia? Will de Gaulle still think of them as "non-European" after his trip to Novosibirsk? The Red Chinese might be particularly interested in this question.

Radio Liberty, unable to find good linguistic experts in the West on the tongues used in the Soviet territories around Tashkent and Samarkand, has recently been recruiting in Turkey for people with the ability to monitor the speech and writings of "Russians" of Turkic and Moslem background. Lands that are smack up against Chinese Turkestan are suddenly important. Some time before de Gaulle's trip to the Soviet Union, Howland Sargeant, the president of the Radio Liberty Committee, told the Ukrainian Congress Committee of America that the concept of "Polycentrism" was making its appeal among the 109 million Soviet citizens who are not Russians. Radio Liberty, he said, had received well-authenticated reports that Soviet "anti-colonialist" broadcasts aimed at countries in Africa and Asia were having a booming effect in Soviet Uzbekistan and elsewhere in the Moslem sections of the Soviet Empire.

De Gaulle's trip to the Soviet Union has had an unsettling effect on the nations of the North Atlantic Alliance. But his invocation of the spirit of nationalism poses problems for the Soviet Union itself that Brezhnev and Kosygin will find hard to handle. Anything that encourages "polycentrism" in one part of the world must encourage it in other parts. A weakened NATO and a weakened Warsaw Pact in eastern Europe must encourage Uzbeks, Estonians, and Ukrainians in their own desires for a more pronounced national identity. When de Gaulle shouts "Long live Russia," there must be hidden voices that whisper "Long live Ukraine" or "Long live Islam."

Can You Remember When —

NEW YORK (AP) — It is memory, not clothes, that makes the man.

Man is the sum of all he remembers, a reservoir of past times, vanished worlds. At his will he can make them live again.

What a magician memory truly is, almost Godlike in this power to resurrect and recreate. For nothing is truly dead until it is altogether forgotten.

Except for his memory man would be hardly more than an ambulant vegetation — a weak-kneed oak, a long-lasting weed.

And you've probably been up and down life's garden path a few times yourself if you can look back and remember when —

The best way to cool off in summer was to go down and sit in a rocking chair in the cellar. Or did you call it the basement?

Neither sex wore swimming suits that revealed the navel.

Up-to-date mothers quit using sulphur and molasses and started dosing their kids with codliver oil.

Many people wouldn't go to a doctor until their druggist failed to cure them with patent medicines.

You could tell how many children in the family had taken their Saturday night baths before you by counting the rings they left in the bathtub.

Russia's most recent census lists more than 21,000 persons 100 years of age or older living in the Soviet Union. The Land of the Commissars now has something else to brag about — it's the world's biggest old folks' home!

Red Role in Ghana

Evidence that deposed President Nkrumah of Ghana was communism's man in Africa is contained in thousands of documents, subversive materials and weapons discovered by the military government that has taken over.

Nkrumah's network of subversion, whose objective was a continental union government for all Africa, was linked to the Soviet Union, East Germany and Red China. Each of these countries had cadres of agents operating under a variety of fronts inside Ghana.

Each of the independent African states was assigned an agent-in-charge.

'Authority' Fade Out

It is significant for the future of state and local governments that the "authority," established with taxing powers to do special jobs, is running out. This is especially true in the eastern states where it has been used longest.

An authority creates a feeling of special magic. When there is a desire for something that cannot be financed out of ordinary revenues, an authority is created and it is bought anyway. State and municipal authorities are discovering that this drains off revenues just as effectively as if the project had been put in the regular budget.

Originally created to by-pass debt limits, many of the authorities were so efficient that there was a scramble to adopt them. Now it is found that they menace the existence of local government as they increase in numbers.

"Freedom fighters" were recruited in many countries and dispatched to camps in Ghana operated by Chinese specialists in guerilla warfare.

The picture is indicative of the ceaseless struggle that must be waged in defense of freedom. Thwarted as they may have been in Ghana, the agents of international subversion doubtless are at work elsewhere, striving to make up for their setback.

Discovery of the caches uncovered in Ghana ought to give pause to those who think the CIA ought to be converted into a backslapping organization.

Many authorities are transferring funds to areas not originally intended. Tolls meant to stop when the project was paid for, continue indefinitely. These extractions add to the tax burdens of the people.

The thinking in the region of the oldest authorities is that they are an expression of the inefficiency of local government. Problems seem almost insoluble, so a second force in local government is created which, unless checked, will dominate the first force.

This suggests that the "authority" device is running out. There may be times when a necessary project can be undertaken in no other way. But resort to the device is likely to be less frequent in the future.

Try and Stop Me

By BENNETT CERF

FROM DETROIT comes the story of a compassionate bird lover who hung an elaborate new seed-bell in her garden at Christmas time. By the end of January, however, not a single feathered friend had fluttered in to partake of her largesse. So she hung a sign on the seed-bell proclaiming, "Endorsed by Duncan Hines."

Mox Lindquist tells about the Swedish farmhand who overslept because his alarm clock failed to go off. When he finally awoke, he gave his clock an angry shake—and out fell a dead cockroach. "No wonder clock stopped," nodded the Swede. "De engineer ban dead!"

The late Somerset Maugham loved to tell about his first meeting with Harpo Marx. The latter explained unashamedly, "The first time I heard your name, sir, I thought Somerset Maugham was a town in England, like Epsom Downs or Stratford-on-Avon!"

When a friend was knighted, E. V. Lucas, editor of Punch, wasted no words in his congratulatory wire. It read: "My dear sir,"

Speaking of YOUR HEALTH...

By LESTER L. COLEMAN, M.D.

Is it safe for anyone with a heart or lung condition to travel in high altitude?

There is no single rule that will apply to all people of all ages for travel in high altitudes. People with mild respiratory and heart ailments can, with permission of their physician, adjust to most altitudes.

Generally, very high altitudes, marked heat and severe cold add an unnecessary burden on the heart and lungs. Simple exercise at sea level can become stressful under unusual climatic and barometric conditions.

When a person has been given permission by his physician to go into high altitudes he must not persist in staying there if there is marked palpitation, chest pain or severe shortness of breath. He should immediately return to a lower, more comfortable and safer altitude.

What is the immediate treatment for a sprained ankle? Keep off the foot until the exact extent of the injury is established by a physician. Don't try to "walk it off" even if there is only moderate pain. If a dislocation or a fracture is present limitless harm can be caused.

The immediate application of ice and cold compresses to the swollen area helps to reduce the swelling and relieves some of the discomfort.

Later an X-ray of the ankle can rule out the possibility of any serious injury. Then many of the new forms of treatment, injection and taping can help the healing process and return the ankle to normal.

Speaking of your health — Get up and stretch your legs after sitting in one position at home or in an automobile for more than two hours.

USE THE CLASSIFIEDS

Slightly Embarrassing

The smart people at Radio Liberty, which monitors whatever is being said over the air in the Soviet Union, have noticed a recurring peculiarity in de Gaulle's method of addressing crowds as he has gone from one Communist reception to another during his visit to the socialist fatherland. He has invariably made it a point to say "Long live Russia", and he always seemed to be saying it in Russian, not in French.

The opinion of the Radio Liberty experts is that there is more in this than meets the ear. For to the Soviets, "Russia" and the ethnic Russian people constitute only a half of the multi-national Soviet Union. Indeed, the slogan "Long live Russia" has been frowned upon by the Kremlin ever since the Red armies, by dint of conquest in the Caucasus, Kazakhstan, the Ukraine, Turkmenistan and elsewhere, put together the present-day Union of Soviet Socialist Republics in the Nineteen Twenties. The Kremlin doesn't like to be reminded that the conquest moved outward from Moscow, the Russian capital. To an older generation with long memories, "Long live Russia" has a pre-revolutionary, if not a counter-revolutionary, connotation — and it must seem faintly disturbing to the crowds that have turned out to listen to Le Grand Charles bring greetings to the Soviet peoples from France.

De Gaulle, of course, is a nationalist to whom ideology is only important when it can be used as a counter in the game of diplomacy. It would be natural for him to think of the Soviet Union as "Russia." But he is also an intelligent man with a sense of history, and his manipulation of the slogan "Long live Russia" could hardly be unconscious. The Radio Liberty experts point out that one of de Gaulle's chief advisers on Soviet policy is a man of Russian emigre origin named Andronikov. Surely, with the expert briefing that is available to him, de Gaulle must realize that the concept of nationalism, in the Soviet Union, has unsettling potentialities.

So what is de Gaulle up to when he invokes a slogan that could only remind Ukrainians, Kazakhs, Tartars, Armenians, Latvians, Lithuanians, Bessarabians and Jews of their conquered status in the Soviet Union? A Soviet Communist, shouting "Long live Russia," would be accused of "bourgeois nationalism." They can't shoot a Frenchman for twanging nationalist strings, but the subtle insult conveyed by de Gaulle's harping on "Russianness" as he is taken about the Soviet Empire must be a bit unnerving to Brezhnev and Kosygin.

De Gaulle has often defined Europe as stretching from "the Atlantic to the Urals." Where does this leave the many peoples of Siberia? Will de Gaulle still think of them as "non-European" after his trip to Novosibirsk? The Red Chinese might be particularly interested in this question.

Radio Liberty, unable to find good linguistic experts in the West on the tongues used in the Soviet territories around Tashkent and Samarkand, has recently been recruiting in Turkey for people with the ability to monitor the speech and writings of "Russians" of Turkic and Moslem background. Lands that are smack up against Chinese Turkestan are suddenly important. Some time before de Gaulle's trip to the Soviet Union, Howland Sargeant, the president of the Radio Liberty Committee, told the Ukrainian Congress Committee of America that the concept of "Polycentrism" was making its appeal among the 109 million Soviet citizens who are not Russians. Radio Liberty, he said, had received well-authenticated reports that Soviet "anti-colonialist" broadcasts aimed at countries in Africa and Asia were having a boomerang effect in Soviet Uzbekistan and elsewhere in the Moslem sections of the Soviet Empire.

De Gaulle's trip to the Soviet Union has had an unsettling effect on the nations of the North Atlantic Alliance. But his invocation of the spirit of nationalism poses problems for the Soviet Union itself that Brezhnev and Kosygin will find hard to handle. Anything that encourages "polycentrism" in one part of the world must encourage it in other parts. A weakened NATO and a weakened Warsaw Pact in eastern Europe must encourage Uzbeks, Estonians, and Ukrainians in their own desires for a more pronounced national identity. When de Gaulle shouts "Long live Russia," there must be hidden voices that whisper "Long live Ukrainian" or "Long live Islam."

The Business World

By Sam Dawson

NEW YORK (AP) — The dollar doesn't go as far as it used to. Even so, most other countries have more room for complaint.

Despite all the unpleasantness of the rising cost of living here, other lands have seen a bigger erosion of the market value of their currency in the last 12 or 18 months. And as here, higher food prices often have been the main culprit.

If you figure the market value of the local money as an even 100 in 1955 the U.S. dollar was worth 85 cents in 1965. Only three other countries had that mark. In El Salvador and Guatemala the local currency still bought the same amount of goods and services 10 years later, as measured by cost of living index. In Venezuela the currency's index value is 89. And in Ecuador it's also 85, as in the United States.

Everywhere else the drop has been pretty bad over the long stretch, right down to the example of Brazil where an index value of 100 in 1955 is a lowly 31 in 1966.

The performance of money in 1965, when the cost of living started climbing in the United States to everyone's discomfort, shows Americans ahead of the game by comparison. In a compilation of the depreciation of the value of money in 45 countries in the last 10 years, the First National City Bank, New York, reports that the decline in 1965 was steeper in 31 of the lands than had been the 10 year average.

The one-year drop was 1.7 per cent in the United States. In Canada the drop was 2.3 per cent. France saw a 2.4 per cent slide. But this bettered its previous experience. The annual rate over the 1955-65 period had been 4.6 per cent in France. Fiscal policies to fight rising inflation apparently were helping France at least slacken the upward pace of the cost of living.

Depreciation in the value of the local money in West Germany, Switzerland and Belgium was held for the 1965 period to 3.8 per cent in each instance. Norway saw a 3.9 per cent decline in the purchasing power of its money.

The United Kingdom and Sweden saw their money depreciate at the rate of 4.6 per cent in 1965. Italy and Ireland each reported a 4.8 per cent drop. In the Netherlands the decline was an even 5 per cent. Denmark's loss was 6.4 per cent.

But of all the industrialized nations Japan apparently was worst hit by the rising cost of living. There, last year's depreciation in the value of money was 7.1 per cent, compared with a 10-year average of 3.7.

So the United States, despite its prolonged economic boom, and its recent pinch on consumer pocketbooks, still has been able to maintain a much lower rate of depreciation than other major industrial nations.

The rising cost of living has been a growing concern here, but a much more pressing one in other lands.

Can You Remember When —

NEW YORK (AP) — It is memory, not clothes, that makes the man.

Except for his memory man would be hardly more than ambulant vegetation — a weak-skinned oak, a long-lasting weed.

And you've probably been up and down life's garden path a few times yourself if you can look back and remember when —

The best way to cool off in summer was to go down and sit in a rocking chair in the cellar. Or did you call it the basement?

Neither sex wore swimming suits that revealed the navel.

Up-to-date mothers quit using sulphur and molasses and started dosing their kids with codliver oil.

Allies Thwart Viet Reds in Central Area

The Circleville Herald, Wed. July 6, 1966 5
Circleville, Ohio

NTA TRANG, South Viet Nam (AP) — Last fall and winter the allies were clearly losing the war against Communist insurgents in Viet Nam.

Now, just as clearly, the Viet Cong and the North Vietnamese are staggering under punishment from the Americans, Koreans, and the revitalized South Vietnamese army.

Some time ago, the North Vietnamese general, Vo Nguyen Giap, conqueror of the French during the Vietnam war, boasted that he would defeat the Vietnamese army and its allies in the central highlands and the coastal region, that he would cut the country in two there, and choke it to death.

American, Vietnamese, and Korean blood and energy have thwarted this aim thus far.

Last December, a well-informed source in Pleiku, key city of the central highlands, told a newsmen: "Get out of here quick. The North Vietnamese are liable to hit this place hard, take it and hold it just long enough to get the allies to bomb it. This is too close to Christmas to get killed."

At that time, the Pleiku airport contained numerous Vietnamese civilians waiting patiently for the next plane headed for a more secure area, mute testimony that expectations for the future were gloomy.

But there has been a considerable reversal of fortunes since then. Now it is the insurgents who are kept off balance by wide-ranging allied military operations.

In the past 30 days, through a combination of good luck and planning, allied military operations have thwarted at least four Communist strikes. During the past half-year, at least eight battalions of elite Viet Cong and North Vietnamese troops have been chopped up by allied fire power.

There have been several architects of allied success but among the foremost are a pair of U.S. major generals, Stanley R. Larsen, senior American in the corps, and Harry W. O. Kinard, who brought the U.S. 1st Cavalry, Airmobile, Division to Viet Nam and directed it from its beginning through its most outstanding successes.

Working with them has been Maj. Gen. Vinh Loc, a relative of Viet Nam's last emperor, Bao Dai. The Vietnamese general does not particularly like Americans but respects their energy and military ability.

Larsen said in a recent interview: "The most outstanding thing I have seen in the past year is the revitalization of the Vietnamese forces."

Once somewhat dispirited and lethargic, Vietnamese soldiers in this area have become aggressive and are proving more of a match for their enemy.

The Communists have in central Viet Nam about 10 regiments of North Vietnamese regulars, about 30,000 men, together with an equal number of hard core South Vietnamese regulars and guerrillas.

Confronting them are the U.S. air cavalry, the 1st Brigade of the 101st Airborne Division, more than a division of Koreans, the 3rd Brigade of the 25th Infantry Division, 12,000 regular Vietnamese troops and government militia.

There has been much discussion of Communist "monsoon aggression," an enemy move that theoretically would be aided by the rains that predominate in this area at this time of the year. Yet allied leaders are not particularly worried.

"If the Communists launch any major offensive — and they badly need a military-political victory here — they would have to accomplish it with 24 hours, indeed quicker than that," says Larsen. "We've simply got the power and mobility to punish them too severely should they maintain an operation much longer than that."

American and Vietnamese military men believe the insurgents will try sooner or later for a quick victory. Probably it will be an attempt to overrun one of the American-Vietnamese Special Forces camps which sit on North Vietnamese routes of supply along the Cambodian border.

Along with military success,

the allies have been accomplishing less spectacular but possibly even more important achievements. Highways that were once popular Viet Cong ambush sites are now traveled safely. Almost every major operation center, from northernmost Kontum Province to the 2nd Corps limit just north of Saigon, is free from enemy attack except by harassment and local terrorism.

There are indications that Viet Cong and North Vietnamese troops are affected by a drop in morale. Where once only a few insurgent soldiers voluntarily surrendered, now even Communist officers are among the many who turn themselves in. Frequently these Communists volunteer valuable information.

The Vietnamese peasant, who throughout history has gone along with the apparent winner in his country's unending strife, is reported more and more reluctant to work as a Viet Cong porter or part-time guerrilla.

There is one thing, however, that must be accomplished to assure allied success in central Viet Nam: The routes of entry used by the North Vietnamese must be sealed off.

Allied success in central Viet Nam will not be easy and it will not be quick.

'Indian Maid' Is Missing

ROCKFORD, Ill. (AP) — Kidnappers have been taking the wooden Indian maidens from the Tulocks Woods Subdivision and returning them from time to time.

Perhaps "The Old Girl," as the statue was affectionately known will also return.

She is missing from the yard of Thomas Carriso's residence. Carved nine years ago by Chief Big Wind near Lac du Flambeau, Wis., she was dressed in a blue cape and looked very matronly.

"I'm very unhappy about it," said Mrs. Carriso. "It's surprising how much you miss something. You don't notice it, but when it's gone, the yard looks so bare."

SELF-SERVICE, PRE-PACKAGED MEATS CAN BE A PROBLEM!

Allies Thwart Viet Reds in Central Area

The Circleville Herald, Wed. July 6, 1966 5
Circleville, Ohio

NTA TRANG, South Viet Nam (AP) — Last fall and winter the allies were clearly losing the war against Communist insurgents in Viet Nam.

Now, just as clearly, the Viet Cong and the North Vietnamese are staggering under punishment from the Americans, Koreans, and the revitalized South Vietnamese army.

Some time ago, the North Vietnamese general, Vo Nguyen Giap, conqueror of the French during the Vietnam war, boasted that he would defeat the Vietnamese army and its allies in the central highlands and the coastal region, that he would cut the country in two there, and choke it to death.

American, Vietnamese, and Korean blood and energy have thwarted this aim thus far.

Last December, a well-informed source in Pleiku, key city of the central highlands, told a newsmen: "Get out of here quick. The North Vietnamese are liable to hit this place hard, take it and hold it just long enough to get the allies to bomb it. This is too close to Christmas to get killed."

At that time, the Pleiku airport contained numerous Vietnamese civilians waiting patiently for the next plane headed for a more secure area, mute testimony that expectations for the future were gloomy.

But there has been a considerable reversal of fortunes since then. Now it is the insurgents who are kept off balance by wide-ranging allied military operations.

In the past 30 days, through a combination of good luck and planning, allied military operations have thwarted at least four Communist strikes. During the past half-year, at least eight battalions of elite Viet Cong and North Vietnamese troops have been chopped up by allied fire power.

There have been several architects of allied success but among the foremost are a pair of U.S. major generals, Stanley R. Larsen, senior American in the corps, and Harry W. O. Kinard, who brought the U.S. 1st Cavalry, Airmobile Division to Viet Nam and directed it from its beginning through its most outstanding successes.

Working with them has been Maj. Gen. Vinh Loc, a relative of Viet Nam's last emperor, Bao Dai. The Vietnamese general does not particularly like Americans but respects their energy and military ability.

Larsen said in a recent interview: "The most outstanding thing I have seen in the past year is the revitalization of the Vietnamese forces."

Once somewhat dispirited and lethargic, Vietnamese soldiers in this area have become aggressive and are proving more of a match for their enemy.

The Communists have in central Viet Nam about 10 regiments of North Vietnamese regulars, about 30,000 men, together with an equal number of hard core South Vietnamese regulars and guerrillas.

Confronting them are the U.S. air cavalry, the 1st Brigade of the 101st Airborne Division, more than a division of Koreans, the 3rd Brigade of the 25th Infantry Division, 12,000 regular Vietnamese troops and government militia.

There has been much discussion of Communist "monsoon aggression," an enemy move that theoretically would be aided by the rains that predominate in this area at this time of the year. Yet allied leaders are not particularly worried.

"If the Communists launch any major offensive — and they badly need a military-political victory here — they would have to accomplish it with 24 hours, indeed quicker than that," says Larsen. "We've simply got the power and mobility to punish them too severely should they maintain an operation much longer than that."

American and Vietnamese military men believe the insurgents will try sooner or later for a quick victory. Probably it will be an attempt to overrun one of the American-Vietnamese Special Forces camps which sit on North Vietnamese routes of supply along the Cambodian border.

Along with military success,

the allies have been accomplishing less spectacular but possibly even more important achievements. Highways that were once popular Viet Cong ambush sites are now traveled safely. Almost every major operation center, from northernmost Kontum Province to the 2nd Corps limit just north of Saigon, is free from enemy attack except by harassment and local terrorism.

There are indications that Viet Cong and North Vietnamese troops are affected by a drop in morale. Where once only a few insurgent soldiers voluntarily surrendered, now even Communist officers are among the many who turn themselves in. Frequently these Communists volunteer valuable information.

The Vietnamese peasant, who throughout history has gone along with the apparent winner in his country's unending strife, is reported more and more reluctant to work as a Viet Cong porter or part-time guerrilla.

There is one thing, however, that must be accomplished to assure allied success in central Viet Nam: The routes of entry used by the North Vietnamese must be sealed off.

Allied success in central Viet Nam will not be easy and it will not be quick.

NEW COLLEGE—Chairman of the Board of Trustees of Prescott College, a new institution which will open for its first classes in September in Prescott, Ariz., is Dr. Lawrence McKinley Gould (above), geology professor at the University of Arizona and a past-president of the American Association for the Advancement of Science. "I'm very unhappy about it," said Mrs. Carriso. "It's surprising how much you miss something. You don't notice it, but when it's gone, the yard looks so bare."

SELF-SERVICE, PRE-PACKAGED MEATS CAN BE A PROBLEM!

You can see the top side of the meat but not the bottom. So you wonder. The steak looks good, but is the bottom all bone and fat?

It's a problem... a problem we've given a lot of thought. We think we have the answer. We have a policy. We put the best side down. The side you don't see is guaranteed to be equal to or better than the side you can see.

Clean Closets Twice Yearly

By ELEANOR ROSS

Look at how carefully we select our beautiful new dresses, suits and costumes. Now what happens to them when they are not being worn? How is that closet they go into when we take them off?

Closet care is important if clothes are to remain chic and in good condition. It's a wise move to do a complete overhaul of the closet twice a year.

Strip the closet down to its "bare bones." Then, when all that's left is the "skeleton", wash the walls, shelves and floor with a sponge that has been soaked in a pine cleaner and water. This is done not only to get rid of dirt, but to make the closet smell sweet and clean.

Whatever is missing in closet accessories can be filled in from the wide variety of closet items on the market. Among the many attractive aids to a neat and orderly place to hang clothes are garment bags of fabric or plastic, that you can see through or not as you prefer. In addition, there are see-through hat boxes, hanging shoe - shelves, belt racks, handbag files, and the like.

Don't buy haphazardly. Work out a scheme or pattern of how you want your closet to look, then make your selections. Of course, the closet has to be made mothproof and it must be deodorized. This can be done all at once with a refreshing pine deodorizer.

If more than one member of the family has to share a closet, avoid friction by using dividers. These can be skirt hangers or garment bags to mark off the sections of the closet. If it is a "his" and "hers" arrangement, the dividing line can easily be made clear.

Those fortunate enough to have a closet all to themselves can take advantage of the space by simple organization. Put the short garments on one side, long ones on the other.

However, before putting any garments back after the closet "clean - out", go over everything carefully. New and recent purchases, of course, present no problem as to what should be kept. But almost all of us have had clothes hanging in the closet that we haven't worn for two or three years. If they are still in good condition, they will surely be of use to someone somewhere. The Salvation Army, Goodwill Industries and similar organizations, as well as local community groups and houses of worship would be glad to receive surplus clothing for use in this country or abroad.

You will have done a good turn to give them away and the clothes you keep will be better off with the extra space to hang without crowding and crushing.

DEAR ABBY: My husband is a professional man. He has a girl in his office who is a divorcee with young children to support, but that's HER problem. I stopped at my husband's office for a few minutes yesterday and first off, this girl calls me by my first name in front of a lot of people sitting in the waiting room. Then she said, "Want to hear a cute joke I said 'All right.' Then she told the dirtiest joke I had ever heard."

Abby, I've been married for over 20 years, and my husband would never tell me a joke like that. I left the office at once, not being able to look anyone in the face. Later, I told my husband what happened and demanded that he get rid of that girl.

He says he can't, she is the most efficient girl he has ever had and he "NEEDS" her. Abby, do you think a husband who really loved his wife would keep a girl like that in his office?

IRATE
DEAR IRATE: Possibly. Don't confuse how much your husband "loves" you with how important an employee may be to him. His professional image is likely to suffer if he keeps such a course and brazen girl in his office, but until he concludes that she's not worth it, it's his problem.

Clean Closets Twice Yearly

By ELEANOR ROSS

Look at how carefully we select our beautiful new dresses, suits and costumes. Now what happens to them when they are not being worn? How is that closet they go into when we take them off?

Closet care is important if clothes are to remain chic and in good condition. It's a wise move to do a complete overhaul of the closet twice a year.

Strip the closet down to its "bare bones." Then, when all that's left is the "skeleton," wash the walls, shelves and floor with a sponge that has been soaked in a pine cleaner and water. This is done not only to get rid of dirt, but to make the closet smell sweet and clean.

Whatever is missing in closet accessories can be filled in from the wide variety of closet items on the market. Among the many attractive aids to a neat and orderly place to hang clothes are garment bags of fabric or plastic, that you can see through or not as you prefer. In addition, there are see-through hat boxes, hanging shoe - shelves, belt racks, hand-bag files, and the like.

Don't buy haphazardly. Work out a scheme or pattern of how you want your closet to look, then make your selections.

Of course, the closet has to be made mothproof and it must be deodorized. This can be done all at once with a refreshing pine deodorizer.

If more than one member of the family has to share a closet, avoid friction by using dividers. These can be skirt hangers or garment bags to mark off the sections of the closet. If it is a "his" and "hers" arrangement, the dividing line can easily be made clear.

Those fortunate enough to have a closet all to themselves can take advantage of the space by simple organization. Put the short garments on one side, long ones on the other.

However, before putting any garments back after the closet "clean - out," go over everything carefully. New and recent purchases, of course, present no problem as to what should be kept. But almost all of us have had clothes hanging in the closet that we haven't worn for two or three years. If they are still in good condition, they will surely be of use to someone somewhere. The Salvation Army, Goodwill Industries and similar organizations, as well as local community groups and houses of worship would be glad to receive surplus clothing for use in this country or abroad.

You will have done a good turn to give them away and the clothes you keep will be better off with the extra space to hang without crowding and crushing.

Club To Meet

The Monrovia Garden Club will meet 8 p. m. Monday, in the home of Mrs. Francis Furniss. Miss Laura Long, Mrs. Howard Grabill and Miss Sarah Grabill will be assisting hostesses.

Dear Abby: By Abigail Van Buren

Hubby Must Make Decision

DEAR ABBY: I have a 33-year-old sister who has been under psychiatric care for nearly a year. I can't understand why. She is a very smart person. She reads constantly and can discuss politics, religion, psychology, art and current events with the most educated people, and everyone remarks on how brilliant she is.

She's even written poetry and short stories which have been published. Her mechanical aptitude amazes men. She can fix clocks, radios, and repair small motors. So will you please tell me why a person who is as smart as she is needs psychiatric treatment?

PUZZLED

DEAR PUZZLED: Emotional disorders have no more to do with intelligence, cultural interests, or motor skills than diabetes or arthritis have. If you knew precisely why your sister needed psychiatric treatment, you'd be a psychiatrist. Let it go at that.

DEAR ABBY: My only child had a birthday yesterday. In about a month I will get a letter from my sister-in-law in which she will say, "Didn't Stevie have a birthday this month? Or was it last month? What can I send him?"

Abby, I have five nieces and nephews, all the children of my only brother and this sister-in-law, and I remember everyone of their children on their birthdays, Christmas, and all special occasions.

If I can remember all of theirs, why can't they remember one of mine? My son is not greedy. He would appreciate being remembered with a card if it came on THE day. Please print this. A word to the wise, you know.

REMEMBERED

DEAR REMEMBERED: It will take more than "a word." The wise don't need it, and the otherwise won't heed it.

DEAR ABBY: My husband is a professional man. He has a girl in his office who is a divorcee with young children to support, but that's HER problem. I stopped at my husband's office for a few minutes yesterday and first off, this girl calls me by my first name in front of a lot of people sitting in the waiting room. Then she said, "Want to hear a cute joke I said 'All right.' Then she told the dirtiest joke I had ever heard."

Abby, I've been married for over 20 years, and my husband would never tell me a joke like that. I left the office at once, not being able to look anyone in the face. Later, I told my husband what happened and demanded that he get rid of that girl.

He says he can't. She is the most efficient girl he has ever had and he "NEEDS" her. Abby, do you think a husband who really loved his wife would keep a girl like that in his office?

IRATE

DEAR IRATE: Possibly. Don't confuse how much your husband "loves" you with how important an employee may be to him. His professional image is likely to suffer if he keeps such a coarse and brazen girl in his office, but until he concludes that she's not worth it, it's his problem.

Library of Congress Splitting at Seams

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Library of Congress, growing at the knowledge-explosion rate of a million items a year, is splitting its marble and steel seams. Help is in sight, but far off. After a decade of talk, Congress has approved in principle a new building that may contain the library's expansion for 25 years.

The start of construction has been delayed by a tangle that involves architects, some of the most senior members of Congress, the late Speaker Sam Rayburn and James Madison, fourth president of the United States and father of the Bill of Rights.

Meanwhile, the library, which cautiously describes itself as "in all probability the world's largest," is housed in an ornate and overcrowded Italian Renaissance building completed in 1897. A more austere, and also overcrowded, annex was completed in 1939. And the library uses portions of buildings at the former Navy gun factory several miles away on the Anacostia River and an abandoned aircraft hangar. Arrangements are now being made to lease a warehouse given up by a Washington department store.

Although Congress loves its library, the agony of decision-making has delayed the new building.

"At least two years have been lost," protests Rep. Tom Steed, D-Okla., a library buff who is chairman of the appropriations subcommittee responsible for financing the library. "This funny monstrosity of a bill requires 42 different people to agree before anything can be done. It will be a miracle if the library can move into its new building five years from now."

But Rep. Kenneth J. Gray, D-Ill., who piloted through a sea of compromises the bill authorizing a $75 million building, insists it is workable legislation.

"A lot of people had to be satisfied," Gray said. "Some of the people making up the commissions involved are such as the speaker and some of the most senior members on both sides (Democratic and Republican).

You couldn't leave them out of the decisions if you wanted to — and nobody wants to."

The result was legislation that gives some role in the planning and construction of the building to the House Building Committee, the Senate Building Committee, the Capitol Building Commission, the James Madison Memorial Commission, the architect of the capitol, who is not a professional architect but an executive officer for the commissions, and a special committee of the American Institute of Architects.

Under Rayburn's leadership, Congress acquired a square of land near the original library and cleared it, razing a small business section and some lovingly restored old Capitol Hill houses.

The square has stood vacant ever since, a prize sought by three groups. One wants it for the library, another for an office building, and the third wants to build a memorial to James Madison, sometimes called the founder father most neglected by posterity.

The key compromise that got the Gray bill through the House was agreement to use the site for a building that would combine a Madison memorial hall with expansion space for the library.

When the redoubtable Rep. Howard W. Smith of Virginia, chairman of the Rules Committee and head of the Madison forces, agreed, the fight was over. Only five votes were cast against the bill. Of course, the Madison Commission got on the control group.

Meanwhile the flood of new acquisitions pours daily into the library, whose employees in many cases literally inch their way around the 44 million items already there.

More people are needed to operate the legislative reference service, the copyright office, the cataloging section that produces most of the cards used by the libraries of the United States, the program for the blind and a dozen lesser known activities, to say nothing of the shelving books and of the scholarly assistance given 884,000 individuals in 1965.

One by one, public rooms of the original building, special reading rooms, exhibit galleries and the like, have lost their original use and their flamboyant turn of the century charm as they were invaded by ugly wallboard partitions cutting them into temporary work spaces.

At the end of a tour, a staffer looked out over the cluttered great hall.

"I don't think there will even be room for the staff Christmas tree this year," she said sadly.

End to Vacation Trip Is Tragic for Boy, 14

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Just back from vacation, Mrs. Hugh Dodson of near Westerville and her son Charles, 14, began unloading the family station wagon Tuesday—in what proved to be the last act of the youth's life.

Charles was removing a rifle from the vehicle, by the barrel, when the .22 caliber weapon discharged. A slug entered his head, killing him. Authorities ruled accidental death in the tragedy witnessed by Charles' two brothers and sister.

Irony Cloaks Death of Ohio Trucker

DAYTON, Ohio (AP) — A trucker died Monday in a high-way accident that carried with it an unusual number of ironies. The victim, Gerald E. Foley of Germantown, was killed on his 35th birthday anniversary. Near the spot where the accident occurred, a motel's entrance sign bore the words: "This is July 5 — Glad You're Alive."

Foley's wife had been hurt seriously in a traffic accident in the area several weeks ago. The accident itself, on U. S. 25 just north of Dayton, was unusual. Foley was operating the type of truck where the cab sits over the engine and can be sprung loose from the engine and separated from it. Authorities said the cab on the tank truck came loose, sending the truck out of control and causing it to smash into an automobile just turning onto Lit-

Fire Strikes Household After Payments Made

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP) — Four months ago, Virgil Roller made the final payment on furniture he bought after his home was destroyed by fire in 1963. Fire struck again recently, destroying most of the family's clothing and furnishings. No one was injured.

Ho Said Unhappy

PARIS (AP) — The weekly magazine Enterprise Tuesday said that President Ho Chi Minh of North Viet Nam had warned Red China and Russia that "if there is no new development, we will have to come to terms (with the United States) toward the middle of 1967."

The magazine, widely read by French business leaders, cited no authority for its information. Enterprise said that Ho Chi Minh had made a quick trip to Peking to present his views and that word had leaked on what was supposed to be a secret visit. It added that the trip was prior to the U.S. bombings of Hanoi and Haiphong.

Irony Cloaks Death of Ohio Trucker

DAYTON, Ohio (AP) — A trucker died Monday in a highway accident that carried with it an unusual number of ironies. The victim, Gerald E. Foley of Germantown, was killed on his 35th birthday anniversary. Near the spot where the accident occurred, a motel's entrance sign bore the words: "This is July 5 — Glad You're Alive."

Foley's wife had been hurt seriously in a traffic accident in the area several weeks ago. The accident itself, on U. S. 25 just north of Dayton, was unusual. Foley was operating the type of truck where the cab sits over the engine and can be sprung loose from the engine and separated from it. Authorities said the cab on the tank truck came loose, sending the truck out of control and causing it to smash into an automobile just turning onto Lit-

Fire Strikes Household After Payments Made

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP) — Four months ago, Virgil Roller made the final payment on furniture he bought after his home was destroyed by fire in 1963. Fire struck again recently, destroying most of the family's clothing and furnishings. No one was injured.

Ho Said Unhappy

PARIS (AP) — The weekly magazine Enterprise Tuesday said that President Ho Chi Minh of North Viet Nam had warned Red China and Russia that "if there is no new development, we will have to come to terms (with the United States) toward the middle of 1967."

The magazine, widely read by French business leaders, cited no authority for its information. Enterprise said that Ho Chi Minh had made a quick trip to Peking to present his views and that word had leaked on what was supposed to be a secret visit. It added that the trip was prior to the U.S. bombings of Hanoi and Haiphong.

U.S. Viet Manpower Problem Said Solved

HONOLULU (AP) — The commander of U.S. forces in the Pacific says after a visit to Saigon that there are sufficient fighting men in South Viet Nam to rout the Communists.

But Adm. U.S. Grant Sharp declared that this does not necessarily mean there will be no further increase in the United States' manpower commitment in the Southeast Asia country.

"I can't say that necessarily. It depends on what the other side does," Sharp remarked. "You can't, in a war, ever say 'we've got enough now' because you don't know what the enemy is going to do."

The admiral, agreeing with Gen. William C. Westmoreland that the war against the Communists is "now being won," gave this assessment of the situation after meeting with the Army general who commands U.S. troops in Viet Nam:

"We have got enough troops in the country that we can take the offensive. Anytime we can find the Viet Cong or the North Vietnamese, we can put enough pressure on to beat them. In other words, we have the necessary forces to take the offensive and stay on the offensive, which is the important thing."

ELM GROVE, Wis. (AP) — The village blacksmith shop will be more than just a memory if residents of Elm Grove have their way.

They have launched a drive to raise up to $40,000 to acquire and preserve several of the village's oldest buildings, including the blacksmith shop which was built in 1883.

A barbershop included in the group dates back to 1854.

"We have enough air power in there now to do the job of supporting the ground troops. There is a fine team in there, and they're doing a hell of a good job."

Sharp, whose headquarters are in Honolulu, visited Saigon after attending a meeting of the Southeast Asia Treaty Organization in Canberra, Australia. He said he talked at length with Westmoreland in Saigon.

Assessing the recent air strikes against fuel depots near Haiphong and the North Vietnamese capital of Hanoi, Sharp said the raids are having the desired effect.

The admiral said his talks with Westmoreland touched on the Buddhist upheavals in the south, and he observed the demonstrations had now "calmed down."

Sharp said South Vietnamese Premier Nguyen Cao Ky had done "absolutely the right thing" to quell the Buddhist uprisings. He said Ky used "the minimum amount of force necessary to keep the country 'lined up' and under control."

"Ky did a marvelous job," Sharp said.

Daytonian Faces Charges in Gun Duel with Police

DAYTON, Ohio (AP)—Three charges of shooting to kill were filed Tuesday against Charles Otto Seadars, who participated in a gun battle with police last week that claimed the life of his son.

Dayton police say they believe Seadars, a 44-year-old factory worker, fired the shot that killed Roger Seadars, 11, Friday. About a dozen shots were fired by Seadars and police in the Seadars living room. The boy was in the line of fire.

The fatal bullet was sent to the FBI in Washington Tuesday for confirmation that it came from Seadars' 375 magnum revolver.

Seadars, his wife and policeman Phil Sheridan were wounded in the incident. All are recovering in Dayton hospitals.

Police said Seadars' mother called them to the home Friday, telling them her son was brandishing a gun.

The World Today

By BARRY SCHWEID
For James Marlow

WASHINGTON (AP) — Four days after he became president, Lyndon B. Johnson declared: "I cannot bear this burden alone. I need the help of all Americans, and all America."

He has resorted to this technique again and again since then, making support for an administration program, bill or course of action a deeply personal matter.

And now, in mounting an offensive for his Viet Nam policy, Johnson is using his patented personal technique once more — in spades.

"There is no human being in all this world who wishes peace to come to the world more than your president of the United States," he said last week in Omaha.

"And if you are too busy or not inclined to help, please count 10 before you hurt," he told a crowd assembled on the bank of the Missouri River.

At his news conference Tuesday at Johnson City, Johnson voiced high praise for the U.S. forces in Viet Nam and added this patriotic note: "I am fearful that sometimes we do not give enough thought to those men as we sit here in the luxury of our front porch and lawn, that we don't recognize the men that are dying for us out in the rice paddies."

Not all of America's wars have been popular on the home front, but the call of patriotism largely succeeded in stifling meaningful opposition. The Viet Nam war is particularly unpopular.

In part, what Johnson is doing is seeking to squeeze out dissension from the steeple in the war's tempo by wrapping his policy in patriotism and in the institution of the presidency itself.

He does not ask support for himself as such but for the institution. This gives a nonpartisan gloss to the policy and seeks to reduce opposition to the level of petty bickering.

The "doves" and others who have doubts about the wisdom of the course the United States is following in Viet Nam see no easy solution.

Johnson is not saying there is one, but he insists there is only one course the United States can follow: Bring inexorable military pressure on North Viet Nam "until the day they decide to end this aggression and to make an honorable peace."

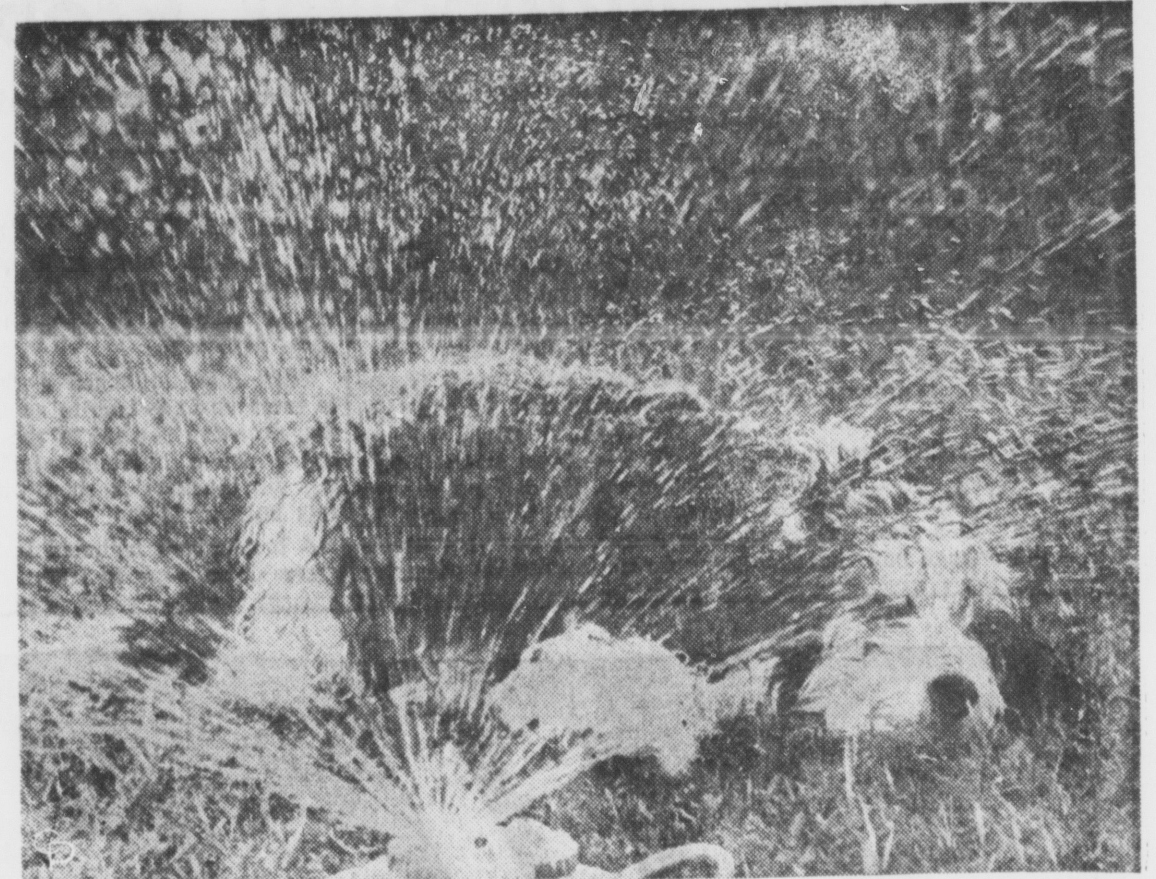

And he is saying it is his patriotic duty to steer on — and the patriotic duty of all Americans to follow.

While Marines are "wading through the rice paddies up to their belts," he said in Omaha, "the least they are entitled to is for you to be as brave as they are and to stand up and give them the support they need here at home."

"We're not going to tuck our tail and run out of South Viet Nam," the President said at another point.

Bravery. Duty. Loyalty to friends in trouble. Not running away from responsibility. These are at the heart of patriotism.

The question now is whether the President's expression of these virtues will unite the country more solidly behind him — and convince some of his critics to drop their brickbats.

COOL IT, DOG, COOL IT—You can see this dog's mother didn't raise any foolish pups. The scene is a lawn in Shreveport, La.

HIGHEST AWARD—Lt. Gen. Joseph H. Moore was awarded South Viet Nam's highest military decoration before leaving his post as commander of the U.S. Air Force in Viet Nam for a post in Hawaii, it was disclosed in Saigon. Premier Nguyen Cao Ky, only other person to wear the award, pinned the Viet Nam National Order, Third Grade, on Moore.

2 Ohio GIs Killed In Viet Nam Action

WASHINGTON (AP) — Two Army men whose nearest relatives live in Ohio are on the latest list of 70 U.S. Servicemen killed in Viet Nam. The Defense Department identified them Tuesday as Sgt. Donald R. Long, brother of Mrs. Marva Gordon, Columbus, and Spec. 4 Richard L. Hido, Painesville.

200 Plants, No Trees

KENOSHA, Wis. (AP) — A nature group hopes to acquire Chiwaukee Prairie, described as one of the last pieces of virgin prairie east of the Rocky Mountains. The land, halfway between Chicago and Milwaukee near Lake Michigan, supports 200 varieties of wild plants but remains a biological puzzle why it has never had trees.

The Wisconsin chapter of Nature Conservancy has acquired 40 acres but hopes to purchase about 200 acres and turn the property over to the new southeastern campus of the University of Wisconsin for scientific and educational purposes.

The World Today

By BARRY SCHWEID
For James Marlow

WASHINGTON (AP) — Four days after he became president, Lyndon B. Johnson declared: "I cannot bear this burden alone. I need the help of all Americans, and all America."

He has resorted to this technique again and again since then, making support for an administration program, bill or course of action a deeply personal matter.

And now, in mounting an offensive for his Viet Nam policy, Johnson is using his patented personal technique once more — in spades.

"There is no human being in all this world who wishes peace to come to the world more than your president of the United States," he said last week in Omaha.

"And if you are too busy or not inclined to help, please count 10 before you hurt," he told a crowd assembled on the bank of the Missouri River.

At his news conference Tuesday at Johnson City, Johnson voiced high praise for the U.S. forces in Viet Nam and added this patriotic note:

"I am fearful that sometimes we do not give enough thought to those men as we sit here in the luxury of our front porch and lawn, that we don't recognize the men that are dying for us out in the rice paddies."

Not all of America's wars have been popular on the home front, but the call of patriotism largely succeeded in stifling meaningful opposition. The Viet Nam war is particularly unpopular.

In part, what Johnson is doing is seeking to squeeze out dissension from the step in the war's tempo by wrapping his policy in patriotism and in the institution of the presidency itself.

He does not ask support for himself as such but for the institution. This gives a nonpartisan gloss to the policy and seeks to reduce opposition to the level of petty bickering.

The "doves" and others who have doubts about the wisdom of the course the United States is following in Viet Nam see no easy solution.

Johnson is not saying there is one, but he insists there is only one course the United States can follow: Bring inexorable military pressure on North Viet Nam "until the day they decide to end this aggression and to make an honorable peace."

And he is saying it is his patriotic duty to steer on — and the patriotic duty of all Americans to follow.

While Marines are "wading through the rice paddies up to their belts," he said in Omaha, "the least they are entitled to is for you to be as brave as they are and to stand up and give them the support they need here at home."

"We're not going to tuck our tail and run out of South Viet Nam," the President said at another point.

Bravery. Duty. Loyalty to friends in trouble. Not running away from responsibility. These are at the heart of patriotism.

The question now is whether the President's expression of these virtues will unite the country more solidly behind him — and convince some of his critics to drop their brickbats.

2 Ohio GIs Are Killed In Viet Nam Action

WASHINGTON (AP) — Two Army men whose nearest relatives live in Ohio are on the latest list of 70 U.S. Servicemen killed in Viet Nam.

The Defense Department identified them Tuesday as Sgt. Donald R. Long, brother of Mrs. Marva Gordon Columbus, and Spec. 4 Richard L. Hido, Painesville.

200 Plants, No Trees

KENOSHA, Wis. (AP) — A nature group hopes to acquire Chikawake Prairie, described as one of the last pieces of virgin prairie east of the Rocky Mountains.

The land, halfway between Chicago and Milwaukee near Lake Michigan, supports 200 varieties of wild plants but remains a biological puzzle why it has never had trees.

The Wisconsin chapter of Nature Conservancy has acquired 40 acres but hopes to purchase about 200 acres and turn the property over to the new southwestern campus of the University of Wisconsin for scientific and educational purposes.

LBJ Optimistic About Victory In Viet Nam

Asked if this meant the major part of the Viet Nam buildup was history, he replied, "No, I wouldn't make such an evaluation." He said more men and materiel will be dispatched to the war zone and, later added: "We have a policy of measured response and gradually increasing our strength from time to time. We plan to continue that."

Johnson's optimism about the progress of the war cropped up several times. He said at one point that while he was aware of the dangers of speculation, "our diplomatic reports indicate that the opposing forces no longer really expect a military victory in South Viet Nam."

At still another point, he said: "If we could only solve the problem in Viet Nam, and we think we are on the way to doing that, we could have a world that is rather peaceful and generally prosperous."

A short time before the President's news conference, Maj. Gen. Harry W. O. Kinnard told Pentagon newsmen that the United States has been winning the war militarily in the central highland area since the 1st Cavalry, Airmobile, Division he commands arrived there 10 months ago.

Kinnard said his division, which "has done better than any other kind of division which the Army has been able to field in Viet Nam," as enforced a "general increase in security throughout" the central highland area.

Kinnard is slated to become a deputy assistant chief of staff for the Army.

Newsmen were expected to question Undersecretary of State George W. Ball at a late morning news conference about the diplomatic reports Johnson cited as indicating the Communists no longer expect to win a military victory in Viet Nam.

McNamara was invited to stop at the Johnson ranch for conferences en route to a meeting with Adm. U.S. Grant Sharp, commander in chief, Pacific.

At the news conference, Johnson made his most extensive statement to date on his decision to bomb oil depots close to Hanoi and Haiphong.

He said military officers and experienced diplomatic observers "think that this action at this time was required by the events of the time."

He said he didn't understand anyone "that says we should sit by with our hands tied behind us" while the North Vietnamese infiltrate into the South.

"We do not say it will stop the infiltration," he added. "We do not say that it will even reduce it. But we do think it will make it more difficult for them."

Moreover, he said national public opinion polls "show that 85 per cent of the people of this country approved this position."

Asked about his slump in some recent polls, Johnson said the latest Louis Harris Poll gave him a 55 per cent popularity rating and "that is what you reported as a landslide" when Dwight D. Eisenhower was re-elected in 1956.

"So we are not upset," he declared.

Chunk of Irish Confetti Fails To Dim Queen's Visit

BELFAST, Northern Ireland (AP) — Queen Elizabeth II and Prince Philip basked in the affection of loyalist orangemen Tuesday, the final day of a royal visit to Northern Ireland. Not even the queen's limousine showed any scars from an anti-British incident Monday.

A large dent in the hood of the queen's Rolls-Royce was beaten out and painted over after the car had been hit by a cement block while the royal couple drove through the city. It weighed about 12 pounds and was hurled from the fourth floor of a building under reconstruction.

If the block had landed a few feet farther back it would have shattered the car's bubbletop. Police arrested a young man in the building and had to smuggle him out the back way to protect him from a howling crowd of angry Belfast citizens.

Two minutes earlier a woman had hurled a beer bottle at the car. It burst near the wheels but caused no damage. The woman was arrested.

The composure of the royal couple seemed jarred briefly by the cement-block attack, but the queen was all smiles again Monday night at a ceremony on Belfast's military parade ground to mark the 50th anniversary of the World War I Battle of the Somme.

She got an especially warm welcome from the crowd, Thousands joined in a loud rendition of "God Save the Queen."

Belfast police said the two attacks did not seem connected, nor was there any indication they were staged by any political organizations. Some members of Parliament had urged cancellation of the royal visit to Northern Ireland because it came after weeks of religious controversy between Protestants and Roman Catholics which had cost three lives.

At still another point, he said: "If we could only solve the problem in Viet Nam, and we think we are on the way to doing that, we could have a world that is rather peaceful and generally prosperous."

A short time before the President's news conference, Maj. Gen. Harry W. O. Kinnard told Pentagon newsmen that the United States has been winning the war militarily in the central highland area since the 1st Cavalry, Airmobile, Division he commands arrived there 10 months ago.

Kinnard said his division, which "has done better than any other kind of division which the Army has been able to field in Viet Nam," as enforced a "general increase in security throughout" the central highland area.

Kinnard is slated to become a deputy assistant chief of staff for the Army.

Newsmen were expected to question Undersecretary of State George W. Ball at a late morning news conference about the diplomatic reports Johnson cited as indicating the Communists no longer expect to win a military victory in Viet Nam.

McNamara was invited to stop at the Johnson ranch for conferences en route to a meeting with Adm. U.S. Grant Sharp, commander in chief, Pacific.

At the news conference, Johnson made his most extensive statement to date on his decision to bomb oil depots close to Hanoi and Haiphong.

He said military officers and experienced diplomatic observers "think that this action at this time was required by the events of the time."

He said he didn't understand anyone "that says we should sit by with our hands tied behind us" while the North Vietnamese infiltrate into the South.

"We do not say it will stop the infiltration," he added. "We do not say that it will even reduce it. But we do think it will make it more difficult for them."

Moreover, he said national public opinion polls "show that 85 per cent of the people of this country approved this position."

Asked about his slump in some recent polls, Johnson said the latest Louis Harris Poll gave him a 53 per cent popularity rating and "that is what you reported as a landslide" when Dwight D. Eisenhower was re-elected in 1956.

"So we are not upset," he declared.

Johnson's optimism about the progress of the war cropped up several times. He said at one point that while he was aware of the dangers of speculation, "our diplomatic reports indicate that the opposing forces no longer really expect a military victory in South Viet Nam."

At still another point, he said: "If we could only solve the problem in Viet Nam, and we think we are on the way to doing that, we could have a world that is rather peaceful and generally prosperous."

Chunk of Irish Confetti Fails To Dim Queen's Visit

BELFAST, Northern Ireland (AP) — Queen Elizabeth II and Prince Philip basked in the affection of loyalist orangemen Tuesday, the final day of a royal visit to Northern Ireland. Not even the queen's limousine showed any scars from an anti-British incident Monday.

A large dent in the hood of the queen's Rolls-Royce was beaten out and painted over after the car had been hit by a cement block while the royal couple drove through the city. It weighed about 12 pounds and was hurled from the fourth floor of a building under reconstruction.

If the block had landed a few feet farther back it would have shattered the car's bubbletop. Police arrested a young man in the building and had to smuggle him out the back way to protect him from a howling crowd of angry Belfast citizens.

Two minutes earlier a woman had hurled a beer bottle at the car. It burst near the wheels but caused no damage. The woman was arrested.

The composure of the royal couple seemed jarred briefly by the cement-block attack, but the queen was all smiles again Monday night at a ceremony on Belfast's military parade ground to mark the 50th anniversary of the World War I Battle of the Somme.

She got an especially warm welcome from the crowd. Thousands joined in a loud rendition of "God Save the Queen."

Belfast police said the two attacks did not seem connected, nor was there any indication they were staged by any political organizations. Some members of Parliament had urged cancellation of the royal visit to Northern Ireland because it came after weeks of religious controversy between Protestants and Roman Catholics which had cost three lives.

Warren Man Drowns Trying To Save Girl

GRANTSVILLE, W. Va. (AP) —The Little Kanawha River claimed two lives in a double drowning Tuesday night, those of a West Virginia girl, 18, and Larry Ward Greathouse, 23, of Warren, Ohio.

Greathouse was in a party at the Cane Riddle swimming area west of here when Naomi Ruby Hopkins of Big Springs, W. Va., waded into the river.

Greathouse, formerly of Anamoriah, W. Va., lost his own life trying unsuccessfully to save Miss Hopkins.

DISGRUNTLED because union bigwigs attending the Teamsters' 19th convention in Miami Beach hired non-Teamsters sightseeing buses for tours, a group of Miami Teamsters picketed the hotel where Teamsters' president James Hoffa is staying. One of the pickets was bus driver Jim Considine (above). A word from Hoffa smoothed over the matter.

Ohio Pair Is Leading Lady Fliers

CLEARWATER, Fla. (AP)—Lady fliers in the 20th annual Powder Puff Transcontinental Air Derby make a dash for Clearwater today in an effort to land before the sunset deadline.

Mrs. Jean M. Bonard, a medical record librarian from Mansfield, Ohio, and her copilot, a hosiery buyer from Bellville, Ohio, Mrs. Patricia Colli, touched down Tuesday night at Augusta, Ga.

They were ahead of the pack at the end of the second leg of the trip from Seattle, Wash.

A landing at Augusta was mandatory today before pilots could make the final hop to Clearwater for grading on elapsed time under a horsepower and speed handicap to determine the winner.

The 2,765-mile race, a top national honor for women fliers, gives the winner a $1,000 cash prize.

Integrated Group Swims In Embattled Georgia Pool

CORDELE, Ga. (AP) — A racially mixed group of 100 used swimming facilities at a state park Monday where Negroes and whites had battled with rocks and bottles several days before.

The battle, June 24, sparked acts of vandalism during the following two days and culminated in a 30-minute gun battle between whites and Negroes last Tuesday night.

No one was reported injured in the gun battle, but the violence prompted Cordele city officials to clamp an all-night curfew on this south Georgia city of 11,500 which was still in effect today.

Col. Lowell Conner, director of the Department of Public Safety, was on hand Monday with 100 state troopers to prevent further violence as about 50 of the integrated group swam in the swimming pool where the melee had erupted earlier.

Whites had used the pool earlier in the day but left. The integrated group was ignored by families who spread picnic lunches on a riverbank in the Georgia Veterans Park about 500 yards away. Other white bathers swam in Lake Black-shear about a half mile from the pool.

State troopers checked every car as it entered the park. One person was arrested for carrying a pistol, and a machete and broomstick were confiscated from another automobile.

An integrated group which came to the park to go swimming Sunday found the pool had been drained.

State Parks Director Horace Caldwell said he did not know who was responsible, but he assured the group the pool would be refilled for the holiday.

Tank trucks hauled water from Cordele to fill the pool and it was ready for swimmers on the Fourth.

INDEPENDENCE Mo. (AP) — Capt. Elza Hatfield, a veteran Kansas City policeman whose major-case unit gets the worst crimes, reached into his pocket and pulled out a picture of a blue-eyed girl, her mischievous, freckled face ringed with curls.

"I carry that with me wherever I go," Hatfield said. "Every man in the office does."

The portrait was that of Denise Sue Clinton, 9 years old and on summer vacation when she was kidnapped July 8 a year ago by a robber who apparently took her only as an afterthought.

There has been no trace of her — no torn or discarded clothing, no ransom demand, no indication whether she is dead or alive.

All that police and the FBI had to go on was a picture of a 33-year-old former mental patient that the girl's grandparents said resembled the robber.

The man, identified as Robert Lee Hays, was arrested Monday night — four days short of the anniversary of the kidnapping — in Oklahoma City on a warrant charging unlawful flight. He had been sought on robbery warrants issued in Topeka, Kan., in September 1963 and in Kansas City.

He was arraigned in Oklahoma City Tuesday before U. S. Commissioner Jim Gullett and held under $2,000 bond.

Both the FBI and Kansas City police said they wanted to question Hays about the kidnapping — to eliminate him as a suspect. He probably will be returned to Topeka on the warrant charging him with robbing the Peacock laundry there. The grandparents will be taken to view him.

Cleveland Plan Offered

8-Point Guide Given to Mayor

CLEVELAND (AP) — Negro leaders have presented Mayor Ralph S. Locher an eight-point program to ease racial tension in this city.

The program repudiates lawlessness in the Negro community and calls for positive steps to be taken.

William O. Walker, state industrial relations director and publisher of "The Call and Post", a Negro newspaper, was spokesman Tuesday for a group that included six members of city council as well as Negro businessmen and clergymen.

Walker said the meeting came after weekend sessions in the predominantly Negro Glenville and Hough areas. Steven Griffin, 10, was shot and wounded in the Hough area two weeks ago and one recommendation was that the city conduct a full investigation into the incident.

The group meeting with Locher urged that an explanation be given why no arrests have been made.

Police were told the shot was fired from a passing car carrying two white men. Police said the investigation was hampered by lack of witnesses.

The Negro group also urged in its program:

—Full integration of the police force.

—Police investigation of the source of leadership that has investigated trouble in the Negro community and distributed incendiary, race - hatred literature.

—Sending of specially trained police into tense and sensitive neighborhoods.

—Appointment of a special mayor's committee to look into the needs of the inner city.

—Impartial handling by police of all persons involved in lawless behavior.

The group "repudiated the lawlessness which has resulted in widespread property damage and negatively affected the image of our neighborhoods."

she were, of course, but I believe it.

"I try to keep a level head about it, I also try to remember to realize that it might not be true. But as long as nobody finds her—"

The question, "Is she alive, is she dead?" is debated agonizingly by Mrs. Clinton and her husband.

"There are times when my enthusiasm builds up," says Clinton, service manager for a new-car dealer. "There are times when it fades some. Until they prove to me with some evidence that she is not alive, I won't believe she is dead. But I don't understand how she could disappear from the face of the earth without some clue."

Denise had just returned from a vacation in California with her parents and 6-year-old sister Diana. She spent the first night with her grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Chelcie Reynolds, managers of a Kansas City motel.

At 2:20 a.m., the night bell rang. Mrs. Reynolds got up from bed at the rear of the office, passed Denise sleeping on a sofa, and admitted a man.

As she handed him a registration card, the man laid an automatic pistol on the counter and demanded money. Mrs. Reynolds gave him $246.

"Anyone else here," the robber asked. Mrs. Reynolds said her husband was in the back room. The robber bound them both with adhesive tape, but the Reynolds freed themselves and called police.

It was then they noticed that Denise had disappeared. Her clothing and shoes still were piled neatly beside the sofa.

Roadblocks were set up immediately. After dawn, helicopters went up, police combed the area, Boy Scouts and Civil Air Patrol cadets made a sector search over the brushy, wooded terrain near the motel.

"At the very beginning there was no doubt in our mind she would be released within an hour," says Mrs. Clinton. "It wasn't reality for a long time."

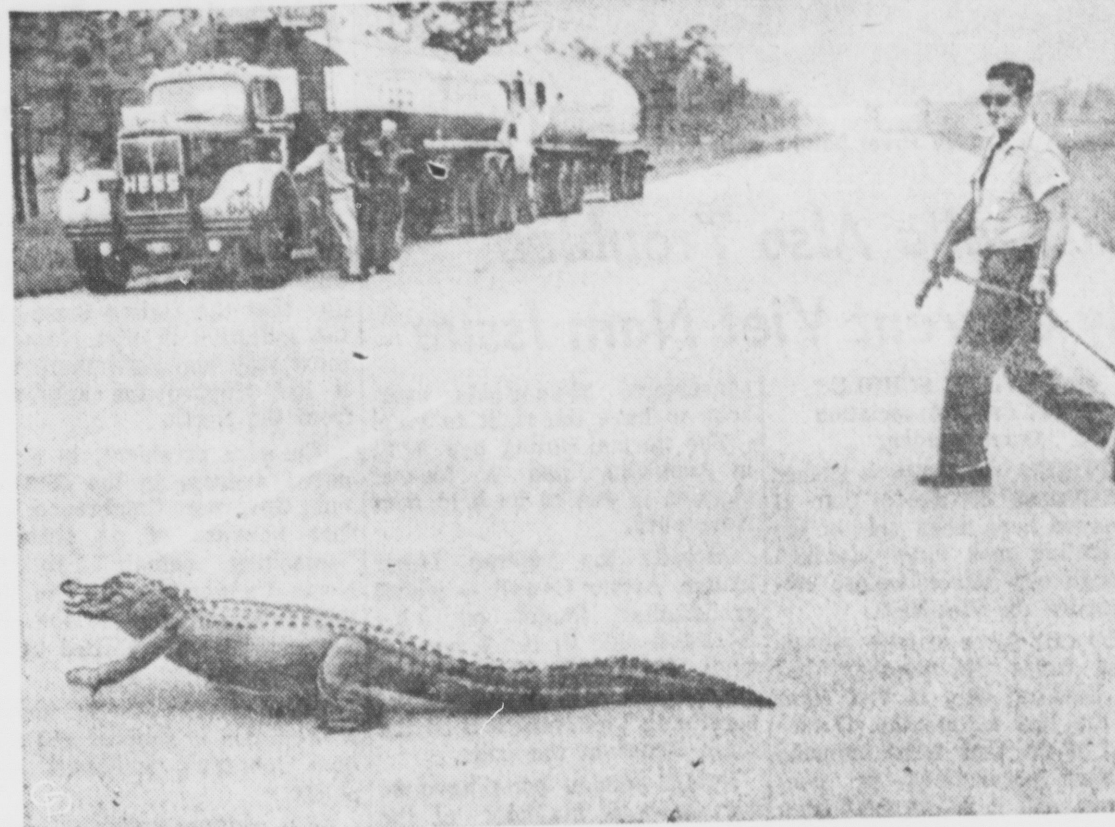

"My husband disagrees — but my personal opinion is if someone had Denise and had a good attitude toward her, she would accept this and be reasonable and content. Suppose there is a woman involved and she felt the woman liked her. She would fall into a pattern of being content. My husband thinks they would not be able to control her."

Karl Dissy, the FBI agent in charge of the Kansas City office, says one man still is working full time on the case.

"Usually in kidnapping cases you have the situation where you have some kind of demand — the principal object of a kidnapping. This case is different. It appears the initial motive was robbery and that the kidnapping was an afterthought."

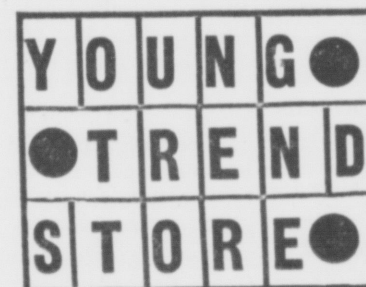

When she was taken, Denise was 4-feet-10 and weighed 85 pounds. Her reddish blonde hair was cut short and she wore bangs. She was blue-eyed like her parents.

"The hardest thing is not knowing," says Mrs. Clinton. "I never could believe that she is not still alive and that there is no chance—"

Hoffa Trying To Get Critic To Keep Silent

MIAMI BEACH, Fla. (AP) — Teamsters' Union President James R. Hoffa is trying to talk Vice President Harold Gibbons out of voicing any dissent to Hoffa's iron control, it was learned today.

Hoffa — facing no opposition or a new five-year term, a $25,000 pay raise and the right to appoint his own successor — reportedly told Gibbons it would be silly to rock the boat at the Teamsters convention.

"That isn't necessary," was one version to what Hoffa said when Gibbons told him he planned to tell some 2,200 delegates why he opposed naming Vice President Frank Fitzsimmons as Hoffa's heir-apparent. According to some accounts of the conversation, Hoffa's attempt to dissuade him appeared to harden Gibbons' resolve to speak his piece before the convention ends Friday.

Gibbons earlier dropped plans to run against Fitzsimmons for the new post of general vice president with automatic succession to the presidency if Hoffa goes to jail. Hoffa's eight-year jury-tampering and five-year mail-fraud sentences are being appealed.

Fitzsimmons said he would allow Hoffa's policies in running the giant 1.7-million-member union if Hoffa is taken out of circulation for a while.

Fitzsimmons, a long-time friend of Hoffa, said a jail term would never bar Hoffa from later returning to head the Teamsters.

Fitzsimmons also made it clear that the Teamsters, expelled from the AFL-CIO on corruption charges in 1957, would have about as little likelihood under him as under Hoffa of returning to the 13-million-member confederation.

"We've had a hell of a lot more success out of the AFL-CIO than in it," Fitzsimmons said.

Asked why he thought Gibbons opposed his selection to succeed Hoffa, Fitzsimmons said: "We've never discussed it. I see no reason why he should oppose me."

Gibbons reportedly feels that Hoffa's hand-picking of his own successor without any opposition smacks of a lack of democracy in the union.

"I think it's an honor," Fitzsimmons said. Hoffa — after lambasting what he called anti-union forces in Congress, the government, big business, and news media — predicted the unanimous reelection of himself, Secretary-Treasurer John F. English, and 13 vice presidents, who together make up the union's ruling executive board.

Hoffa also forecast that the delegates would unanimously approve all proposals, including a $1 dues increase to pay for higher salaries or himself and other top officials and to build "a large war chest."

Hoffa said the money was needed to fight a new upsurge of anti-union employers who use the law, police and strike-breakers to fight unions.

Sukarno Seeks To Help Shape New Cabinet

JAKARTA, Indonesia (AP) — President Sukarno today accepted the loss of his "president-for-life" title but said he would oppose any attempt by Lt. Gen. Suharto to form a Cabinet without his approval.

"I don't want to be president for life. I have no desire even to be elected president. I want to dedicate myself to the people, to the service of freedom," Sukarno told the closing session of the Provisional People's Consultative Congress.

He said he would carry out the resolutions passed by the Congress but declared that under the 1945 constitution only the president has the right to appoint a Cabinet.

The Congress ordered the president Tuesday to let Suharto choose the Cabinet. In an apparent last-minute compromise it later issued a call for the two men to work out the appointments together.

"This I accept," Sukarno said. "I don't want to be treated as a king of kings. I've been fighting for nearly 40 years — to be only a king? No, no."

The new Cabinet is to be chosen before Indonesia's National Day Aug. 17. It remains to be seen how much of a voice Suharto will let the president have in choosing the ministers.

Speaking after Sukarno, the army strongman said that anyone who opposed resolutions of the Congress also opposed the 1945 constitution. The resolutions are a manifestation of the Indonesian people's desires, he declared.

"We should implement the resolutions immediately and should not wait any longer," Suharto said.

The speeches of both Sukarno and Suharto were broadcast.

Some Indonesian sources and foreign diplomats said a showdown would develop if Sukarno decided to make a stand on the question of Cabinet appointments. The army has virtually run Indonesia since an unsuccessful Communist coup attempt last October, and in March Sukarno relinquished most of his power to Suharto.

The Congress voted new powers for the general Tuesday, naming him acting president if Sukarno leaves the country or is unable to perform his duties. Sukarno is 65 and is known to be suffering from kidney stones.

The Congress also ratified the results of the recent peace talks with Malaysia in Bangkok which ended Sukarno's undeclared war on Malaysia. The congressional action was termed "encouraging news" by Malaysian Prime Minister Abdul Rahman.

Medieval alchemists were not above trickery to impress potential patrons. Unscrupulous members of the craft produced gold by sleight-of-hand and earned grants from the credulous.

Australia Also Troubled By Current Viet Nam Issue

By ARTHUR SCHOLES
Central Press Association
Correspondent

SYDNEY, Australia — Scenes reminiscent of World War II occurred here when men of the Australian task force marched through city streets before embarkation for Viet Nam.

The task force of 4,500 men is three times the number that has been on duty in Viet Nam for the last 12 months. One-third of the task force includes national servicemen or conscripts, and it is the first time in Australian history that conscripts have been sent overseas to fight.

In many respects the war in Viet Nam is a more important issue in this country than in the United States. Because of the traditional policy of sending only volunteers to fight in overseas wars, there is a deep-seated resentment of conscription.

In World War I, in which more than 400,000 Australian volunteers served in Europe and the Middle East, two referenda on conscription were defeated.

In World War II, conscription was introduced to send Australian servicemen to New Guinea, which was, for purposes of the defense of the homeland, classed as Australian Commonwealth territory.

However, only volunteers were sent to fight the Japanese in Borneo. Volunteer R.A.F. and naval forces took part in the fighting in the Philippines. Only volunteers were sent to Korea, when a special force of 5,000 men was obtained without difficulty.

Today, the issue of Viet Nam has split the country politically with the Labor opposition accusing the government of not making enough effort to raise a volunteer force for Viet Nam.

The opposition holds that it was a mistake for Australia to send the first 100 military advisors to South Viet Nam in 1963. They contend Australia should have offered troops for United Nations force, to pacify the country in preparation for the holding of democratic elections.

The Australian government sent an RAAF transport squadron to South Viet Nam in 1964, and followed this with the dispatch of 1,500 men of a regular army battalion in June 1965.

In February, 1966, Prime Minister Harold Holt announced the Australian commitment would be tripled to 4,500 men and that this task force would include a third national servicemen.

In 1963, when the federal government introduced two-year military training for men reaching the age of 20 years, it was denied that the conscripts would be sent to Viet Nam, though it was said the men would be liable for overseas service.

Bowing to the pressure of political agitation against conscription, Prime Minister Holt announced that special legislation will be introduced into Parliament forthwith to enable conscripted 20-year-olds overseas to have the right to vote. The normal voting age is 21 in Australia, and a federal election is due to be held next November.

Already the veteran Labor leader, Arthur Cawell — whose grandfather fought on the Northern side in the American Civil War — has declared that conscription and opposition to service in Viet Nam will be the main issues at the polls.

Public opinion polls have so far shown a majority of the people against conscription for Viet Nam, and there is not much doubt that if the question was put to a referendum again, it would be defeated. However, Prime Minister Holt has decided against a referendum, and will stake his political future on the issue at the November elections.

Recently there has been widespread organized meetings against conscription, demonstrations and protest rallies witnessed in Australia since the hunger marches of the Great Depression.

The government maintains that Australia has to "hold the line against Communism" in Viet Nam — rather than fight the enemy later in North Queensland.

The opposition contends that Communism cannot be defeated by military means alone — but only by higher living standards, housing and education.

Federal Fund Sought for Vo School

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—The state has made formal application for the $1,199,000 in federal funds needed to build the joint vocational school and technical center expected to be located in the Nelsonville vicinity.

Albert G. Giles, director of the Ohio Office of Appalachia, requested the grant Tuesday in a communication to the Appalachian Regional Commission in Washington.

The vocational school was approved by voters of Athens, Hocking and Perry counties at the May 3 primaries when they passed a $735,000 bond issue and a 1.9-mill operating levy as the

Madison Avenue OKs 'Fat Max,' 4-Inch Tie

NEW YORK (AP) — Brooks Brothers, the Madison Avenue store that has been turning out stock brokers' uniforms since 1846, has gone and done something very un-buttoned down — the Fat Max.

There are murmured apologies, of course — "Not really our kind of merchandise, we generally try to avoid fads." But the display cases don't lie.

In them are rows of bookies' delights: four-inch-wide Fat Max ties, broad as bibs, gross enough for a race track tout, big enough to hide a dirty shirt front.

Significantly, the salesmen say, the buyers are standard Ivy League types, the advertising men and Wall Street people whose preference for narrow ties had kept wider ones de-classe since the end of World War II.

Their interest has manufacturers predicting a drop in the popularity of Slim Jims and pitching their fall sales campaigns to the wide widths. Most standard ties are now between 2 1/4 and 2 inches.

Brooks spokesman Richard Whiting says: "I'm amazed by how astronomical business has been with them. They're not really our kind of merchandise, but I suppose a certain amount of innovation is understood."

The store has kept the width limit at three inches on its exclusive first floor, while letting it reach four in its university and young executives' departments.

Virtually every major manufacturer will carry the wide ties in their fall lines. Prices for the new models are expected to be higher, with makers passing along the cost of extra silk to retail outlets.

HHH Says Allies Ahead in Viet

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey told the nation's governors today that the United States has the initiative in Viet Nam and must stay and fight there until it has stopped the aggression from the North.

The vice president, in a prepared address to the 58th annual Governors Conference, said that because of a series of "smashing defeats" to the North Vietnamese and the Viet Cong, the initiative in the conflict clearly "has shifted to the allied forces."

The governors are considering a resolution in support of President Johnson's Southeast Asia policy.

As a representative of the President, who canceled a visit to the conference session, Humphrey launched a defense in depth of the President's course in a war most of the governors said the people want ended quickly.

Humphrey said the nation is faced with only two options — to stay and fight in Viet Nam or to get out. He said withdrawal would only encourage further Communist aggression in Asia and would jeopardize the integrity of independent nations in that part of the world.

"There are those who suggest that we should stay, but be quiet about it — that we should fight, but not vigorously," he said. "I am not sure whether they fully support a half war or give half-way support to a full war."

"I say that we must stay and fight and work in South Viet Nam until we have achieved our objective — the halt of aggression from the North, the independence of South Viet Nam and peace in Southeast Asia."

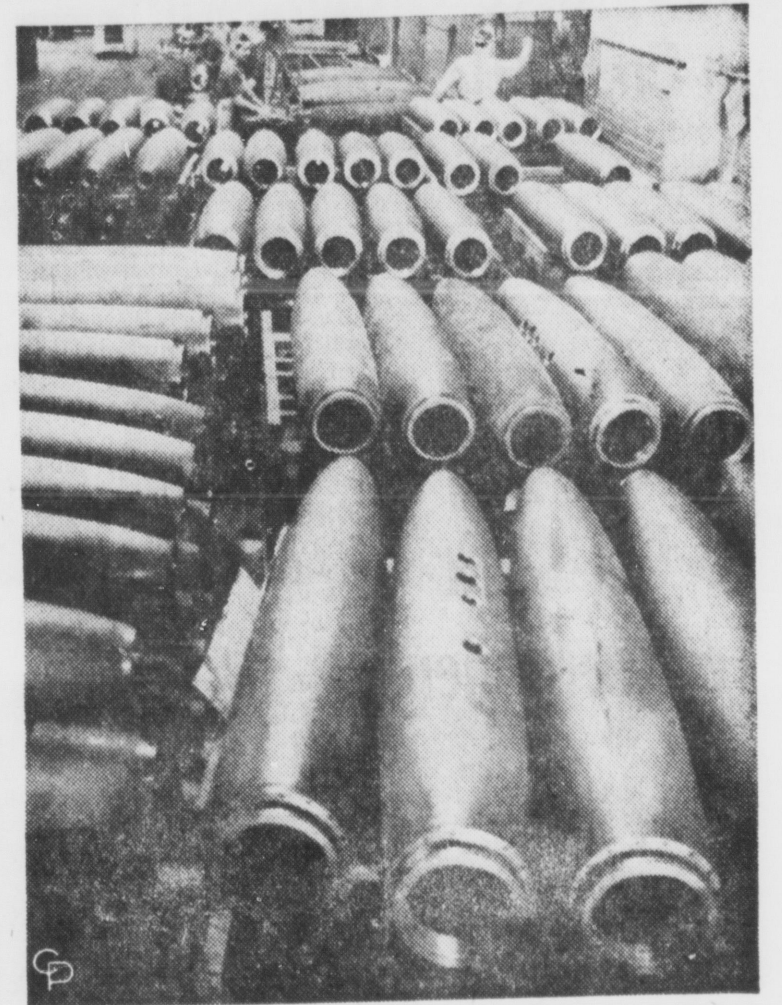

Humphrey said that "despite the efforts of a small minority to cloud the issue, there is nothing 'liberal' or 'conservative' about turning 15 million people over to communism."

"At stake is not merely the independence of the South Viet-name but the course of future events in Asia," he said.

Humphrey said the recent bombing of oil storage depots around Hanoi and Haiphong — which has disturbed some governors who generally have supported the administration's policies — was "a military action against clear military objectives."

"The decision was carefully weighed," he said. "It was designed for two purposes — to slow down the rate of infiltration which has been taking a toll of allied lives and to help convince the North Vietnamese leadership that their aggression in the South will be too costly to sustain."

Bombs—500-pounders—await inspection, underway in background, then shipment to ordnance station for explosives.

Sukarno Seeks To Help Shape New Cabinet

JAKARTA, Indonesia (AP) — President Sukarno today accepted the loss of his "president-for-life" title but said he would oppose any attempt by Lt. Gen. Suharto to form a Cabinet without his approval.

"I don't want to be president for life. I have no desire even to be elected president. I want to dedicate myself to the people to the service of freedom," Sukarno told the closing session of the Provisional People's Consultative Congress.

He said he would carry out the resolutions passed by the Congress but declared that under the 1945 constitution only the president has the right to appoint a Cabinet.

The Congress ordered the president Tuesday to let Suharto choose the Cabinet. In an apparent last-minute compromise it later issued a call for the two men to work out the appointments together.

"This I accept," Sukarno said. "I don't want to be treated as a king of kings. I've been fighting for nearly 40 years — to be only a king? No, no."

The new Cabinet is to be chosen before Indonesia's National Day Aug. 17. It remains to be seen how much of a voice Suharto will let the president have in choosing the ministers.

Speaking after Sukarno, the army spokesman said that anyone who opposed resolutions of the Congress also opposed the 1945 constitution. The resolutions are a manifestation of the Indonesian people's desires, he declared.

"We should implement the resolutions immediately and should not wait any longer," Suharto said.

The speeches of both Sukarno and Suharto were broadcast.

Some Indonesian sources and foreign diplomats said a showdown would develop if Sukarno decided to make a stand on the question of Cabinet appointments. The army has virtually run Indonesia since an unsuccessful Communist coup attempt last October, and in March Sukarno relinquished most of his power to Suharto.

The Congress voted new powers for the general Tuesday, naming him acting president if Sukarno leaves the country or is unable to perform his duties. Sukarno is 65 and is known to be suffering from kidney stones.

The Congress also ratified the results of the recent peace talks with Malaysia in Bangkok which ended Sukarno's undeclared war on Malaysia. The congressional action was termed "encouraging news" by Malaysian Prime Minister Abdul Rahman.

Australia Also Troubled By Current Viet Nam Issue

By ARTHUR SCHOLES
Central Press Association
Correspondent

SYDNEY, Australia — Scenes reminiscent of World War II occurred here when men of the Australian task force marched through city streets before embarkation for Viet Nam.

The task force of 4,500 men is three times the number that has been on duty in Viet Nam for the last 12 months. One-third of the task force includes national servicemen or conscripts, and it is the first time in Australian history that conscripts have been sent overseas to fight.

In many respects the war in Viet Nam is a more important issue in this country than in the United States. Because of the traditional policy of sending only volunteers to fight in overseas wars, there is a deep-seated resentment of conscription.

In World War I, in which more than 400,000 Australian volunteers served in Europe and the Middle East, two referenda on conscription were defeated.

In World War II, conscription was introduced to send Australian servicemen to New Guinea, which was, for purposes of the defense of the homeland, classed as Australian Commonwealth territory.

However, only volunteers were sent to fight the Japanese in Borneo. Volunteer R.A.F. and naval forces took part in the fighting in the Philippines. Only volunteers were sent to Korea, when a special force of 5,000 men was obtained without difficulty.

Today, the issue of Viet Nam has split the country politically with the Labor opposition accusing the government of not making enough effort to raise a volunteer force for Viet Nam.

The opposition holds that it was a mistake for Australia to send the first 100 military advisors to South Viet Nam in 1963. They contend Australia should have offered troops for United Nations force, to pacify the country in preparation for the holding of democratic elections.

The Australian government sent an RAAF transport squadron to South Viet Nam in 1964, and followed this with the dispatch of 1,500 men of a regular army battalion in June 1965.

In February, 1966, Prime Minister Harold Holt announced the Australian commitment would be tripled to 4,500 men and that this task force would include a third national servicemen.

In 1963, when the federal government introduced two-year military training for men reaching the age of 20 years, it was denied that the conscripts would be sent to Viet Nam, though it was said the men would be liable for overseas service.

Bowing to the pressure of political agitation against conscription, Prime Minister Holt announced that special legislation will be introduced into Parliament forthwith to enable conscripted 20-year-olds overseas to have the right to vote. The normal voting age is 21 in Australia, and a federal election is due to be held next November.

Already the veteran Labor leader, Arthur Cawell — whose grandfather fought on the Northern side in the American Civil War — has declared that conscription and opposition to service in Viet Nam will be the main issues at the polls.

Public opinion polls have so far shown a majority of the people against conscription for Viet Nam, and there is not much doubt that if the question was put to a referendum again, it would be defeated. Chamber To Aid Study on River

The Circleville Chamber of Commerce will cooperate with a special reconnaissance group scheduled to come here Aug. 3 for an exploratory look at the Scioto River in this vicinity.

According to Earl Palm, Chamber president, the visiting group will include representatives from the U. S. Army Corps of Engineers, the Ohio Department of Natural Resources and other state groups. The survey will deal primarily with obstructions, flow, diverted channel problems and other aspects of the river in this locality.

President Palm named Robert Cole and his Agri-Business

Committee as the Chamber delegation to work with the reconnaissance group.

The Scioto survey report was one of several presented during Tuesday's regular luncheon meeting of the Chamber board at Pickaway Arms.

OTTO GUENTHER, representing Quality Courts Motel on Route 23, said the establishment has offered to make space available for picture display on local industries.

Palm said the display would be placed in a prominent location for easy public viewing. Boyd Stoute, Public Relations Committee head, was authorized to get his panel started on assis with the project.

A rundown on the July 14 "Sidewalk Sale" here was presented by Mrs. E. R. Bennett, Chamber manager - secretary. She said final plans are now being firmed up for the annual event.

Clare Silkwood, heading up the Chamber sponsored Industrial Display for the 1966 Pickaway County Fair, said approximately 12 firms have agreed to participate. The display will be featured in the Coliseum.

Alden Bray offered a review on the current project to secure a joint Pickaway-Ross Airport. W. E. Christopher reported that one firm has applied for Chamber membership for the month.

In other business, the directors moved in favor of holding congressional office terms to two years rather than initiate a four-year program that has been proposed. The action was in answer to an inquiry by the U. S. Chamber.

Mrs. Bennett reported on the highlights of a week spent at Michigan State University where she completed an advanced course in chamber management.

Ohio Tennis Stars Vie in Tournament

DAYTON, Ohio (AP) — The highly regarded Ohio trio of Connie Capozzi, Ginger Pfeiffer and Jane Lawson carried the Buckeye flag high into today's third round sines of the annual Western Girls Tennis Championships.

Connie and Jane of Middletown, seeded first and third, respectively, in the girls 16 and under class, and Ginger of Springfield, ranked No. 2 in the 18 and under division, scored straight-set victories in second round activity Tuesday.

Miss Capozzi, 15, defeated Connie Cleavenger, Dayton, 6-1, 6-1; Miss Lawson defeated Ellen Fernberger, Hamtramck Mich., 6-2, 6-2, and Miss Pfeiffer ousted Susan Ornstein, Hamtramck, 6-4, 6-3.

Carol Hunter of Kalamazoo, Mich., seeded No. 1 in the girls 18 division, advanced by blanking Susan Kovacs, another Midletown lass, 6-0, 6-0.

Great Durante Is Happy To Have Home, Family Now

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — "Yeah, it's great comin' home," James Durante philosophized. "When ya got somethin' to come home to."

The Great Durante is now home from his half-year of wandering about the country to earn a living with his violent, endearing brand of comedy. Such has been his life for most of his 73 years. The difference is that now he has a wife and daughter to return to.

"And whatta dif'rence it is!" he explains. "Them two make all the work worth it."

Durante averages six months of playing the top night clubs of the nation, usually returns to his Beverly Drive home in later spring. He'll take a local date; last week he was playing Humpty Dumpty in "NBC's special "Through the Looking Glass," which will appear Nov. 6.

Otherwise he preserves his summers, especially the three months he spends with wife, Marge, and daughter, Cece, at Del Mar, 100 miles south.

"I wouldn't miss that for the world," said Jimmy. "In the mornin' I'm out fishin' in the surf; I love it. Then in the afternoon I go to the racetrack. I don't bet much, 'cause you can't win anyway when you play nine races. And that daily double! Murder!"

He is admittedly a fond parent, having become one late in the game. The Durantes adopted Cece four years ago. She can do no wrong in his eyes. The only thing about her he deprecates is the nose.

"How d'ya like that kid!" he shrugged. "All she got for a nose is a button. It's no bigger'n a pimple. I keep pullin' on it, hopin' that'll make it grow. Nuttin' happens."

Come early autumn, Jimmy will once more be resuming his vagabondage. His wife and daughter sometimes join him in resorts like Miami and Puerto Rico, but most of the time they

Girl, 19, Trapped For 30 Minutes In Smashed Auto

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — A 19-year-old girl, trapped behind the steering wheel of her car for 30 minutes after a traffic smashup here Tuesday, remained in critical condition at Mercy Hospital.

The victim was Miss Karen Taylor, daughter of Mr. and Mr. Herbert Taylor of Cincinnati.

Police said a tractor-trailer rig had slammed head-on into her car on South High Street when the truck's wheels skidded on a slippery road surface.

Police and fire emergency squadmen worked for more than 30 minutes to free the girl from beneath the steering wheel of her late model convertible.

George Reeves, 37, of Cape Girardeau, Mo., the truck driver was treated in Mercy Hospital for multiple body injuries.

West Coast Stars Figure In Tribe Tilt

CLEVELAND (AP) —Cleveland pitcher Tom Kelley was the best pitcher in the Pacific Coast League last year, and Ted Uhlaender, now of the Minnesota Twins, was batting champ.

They met Tuesday night at a crucial point in the seventh inning of the Minnesota-Cleveland game, and the batting champ came out on top. Kelly was trying to protect a 3-2 lead but had given up successive singles to Jimmie Hall and Zoilo Versalles.

He threw his best pitch to Uhlaender, a fast ball near the batter's fists. Uhlaender got his bat around, hit the ball with the skinny part of the bat and arched a lazy double over third baseman Max Alvis' head.

That hit scored the tying run and knocked Kelley out. Dick Radatz put out the fire, but not until a sacrifice fly by Harmon Killebrew scored another run, giving the Twins a 4-3 victory.

It was another PCL star, Pete Cimino, a teammate of Uhlaender's at Denver, who pitched the last three innings for the Twins and shackled the Indians on two hits.

Clarke Lowers 3-Mile Record

STOCKHOLM, Sweden (AP) — Ron Clarke, the first runner to crack the 13-minute barrier for the three miles and the 28-minute barrier for 10,000 meters, again is exciting the track and field world.

The slim 29-year-old Australian regained the world mark in the 5,000 meters Tuesday with a blazing 13:16.6 and en route lowered the three-mile world record to 12:50.4.

An enthusiastic crowd of 10,000 stood on its seats and cheered Clarke as he far out-distanced the field for his two world records at an international track and field meet.

CIRCUMCISION

Q. At what age should a newborn boy be circumcised?

A. If the procedure is desired (the majority of American obstetricians seem to endorse circumcision) it is probably best accomplished within the first few days of birth. However, from a medical standpoint, there is no precise time at which circumcision should or should not be performed.

EARLY HAIR LOSS

Q. Could you please tell me why a 10-year-old boy lost all of his hair? Will it ever come back?

A. If the hair loss is not due to scalp infection or high fever, the prospects of regrowth are slim. Have the boy examined by a dermatologist (skin specialist).

Chamber To Aid Study on River

The Circleville Chamber of Commerce will cooperate with a special reconnaissance group scheduled to come here Aug. 3 for an exploratory look at the Scioto River in this vicinity.

According to Earl Palm, Chamber president, the visiting group will include representatives from the U. S. Army Corps of Engineers, the Ohio Department of Natural Resources and other state groups. The survey will deal primarily with obstructions, flow, diverted channel problems and other aspects of the river in this locality.

President Palm named Robert Cole and his Agri-Business

Committee as the Chamber delegation to work with the reconnaissance group.

The Scioto survey report was one of several presented during Tuesday's regular luncheon meeting of the Chamber board at Pickaway Arms.

OTTO GUENTHER, representing Quality Courts Motel on Route 23, said the establishment has offered to make space available for picture display on local industries.

Palm said the display would be placed in a prominent location for easy public viewing. Boyd Stoute, Public Relations Committee head, was authorized to get his panel started or assist with the project.

A rundown on the July 14 "Sidewalk Sale" here was presented by Mrs. E. R. Bennett, Chamber manager - secretary. She said final plans are now being firming up for the annual event.

Clare Silkwood, heading up the Chamber sponsored Industrial Display for the 1966 Pickaway County Fair, said approximately 12 firms have agreed to participate. The display will be featured in the Coliseum.

Alden Bray offered a review on the current project to secure a joint Pickaway-Ross Airport. W. E. Christopher reported that one firm has applied for Chamber membership for the month.

In other business, the directors moved in favor of holding congressional office terms to two years rather than initiate a four-year program that has been proposed. The action was in answer to an inquiry by the U. S. Chamber.

Mrs. Bennett reported on the highlights of a week spent at Michigan State University where she completed an advanced course in chamber management.

All-Star Grid Prep Starts

East-West Tilt
Slated Saturday

ATLANTA (AP) — Sixteen West All-Stars have earned starting assignments as the rival All-America squads continued drills for Saturday's Coach's All-America football game.

Coach-of-the-Year Tommy Prothro said he had now seen enough to pick all but one of his defensive openers. Over on offense, five berths still are unsettled, including the quarterback job sought by $100,000 Atlanta Falcon bonus baby Randy Johnson and three-time All-Big Eight performer Gary Lane of Missouri.

Tommy Nois, the only other future Falcon in the West cast, has wrapped up one linebacking job and teaming with him will be Carl McAdams from Oklahoma.

The rest of the way on defense, said Prothro, the West will field a starting group of ends Aaron Brown of Minnesota and Jeff Smith of Southern Cal; tackles Gale Gillingham of Minnesota and Charlie Harper of Oklahoma State and middle guard Walt Barnes of Nebraska.

For the rival East, plans were not yet as firm. Duffy Daugherty's crew suffered the loss of Alabama end Tommy Tolleson, who pulled a hamstring muscle and will be sidelined.

Replacing the Falcon draftee was Pat Hodgson, the native Atlantan and three-year Georgia Star who is the property of the Washington Redskins.

Women Pros Await Test

$20,000 Tourney
Due in Cincinnati

CINCINNATI (AP) — Most of the lady pros have arrived in town and seven of them will get things rolling today in a preliminary to the $20,000 Buckeye Savings Golf Tournament to be played Friday, Saturday and Sunday.

Approximately 40 members of the Ladies Professional Golf Association tour will compete in the main event. They include Kathy Whitworth, who won the tournament here last year, and Sandra Spuzich, the part-time Indianapolis school teacher who only last Sunday won the Women's National Open crown.

But neither Miss Whitworth nor Miss Spuzich will be in action today when each of the seven competing pros play with the Cincinnati area women Gloria Armstrong and Althea Gibson Darben, one time tennis champion, are the biggest names among the pros in today's field. The amateurs will include Sandra Jones, recent winner of the Cincinnati Women's Metropolitan crown, and Mrs. Sally Christiansen, the runner-up.

The better known lady pros will get into action Thursday in another pro-am which will have them playing with Cincinnati men amateurs.

The gal pros go to work in earnest Friday in quest of the $1,950 top prize for the 54-hole medal play tourney over Cloverbrook Country Club's 6,200-yard course with its par of 36-36-72.

On Friday and Saturday each of the lady pros will play with a Cincinnati area man pro in a best ball affair. The gals, of course, have to hole out all putts because their scores count in the 54-hole "ladies only" main tourney.

Ron Jackson, a rookie with the New York Knickerbockers, averaged 29.8 points a game for Clark College in Atlanta last season. He's a Chicago native and also played for Wisconsin.

Grid Coach Resigns at Logan Elm

The Logan Elm Board of Education Tuesday night accepted the resignation of James Colville as head football coach.

Colville told the board he has accepted the head grid position at Benton Harbor, Mich., at a sizeable increase in salary.

The board is currently accepting applications for a replacement for Colville.

In his one year at Logan Elm, Colville's team posted three wins, lost five and tied one. The Braves finished last in the Scioto Valley Conference last year with a 1-3 league record.

Aussie Sets Sights on British Title

MUIRFIELD, Scotland (AP) — Australia's Peter Thomson set out today to go one better than the legendary Harry Vardon and capture the British Open Golf title for the sixth time.

But men like Jack Nicklaus, Arnold Palmer, Gary Player and Tony Lema were standing in Thomson's way as the 72-hole championship got under way.

In the heyday of the British game, Harry Vardon of England won the open in 1898, 1899, 1903, 1911 and 1914 and became a golfing immortal.

Thompson won the title in 1954, 1955, 1956, 1958 and 1965.

Latest betting lists showed money pouring in for Thomson, whose odds have dipped to 10 to 1. Player, the South African star, is 6 to 1 although he insists: "My game is pretty poor."

Nicklaus, of Columbus, Ohio, remained the 7-2 favorite, with Palmer at 5 to 1 and Lema at 7 to 1.

The field of 130 top pros and a few amateurs are competing on a 6,887-yard, par 71 course.

U.S. Davis Cup Team Is Named

NEW YORK (AP) — Eight women amateur golfers, all veterans of Curtis Cup play, were named Tuesday to the team that will play Great Britain in the 14th Cup match at Hot Springs, Va., July 29 and 30.

Members of the team, as announced by the United States Golf Association, are:

Jean Ashley, Chanute, Kan.; Barbara Fay White Bodie, Shreveport, La.; Carol Sorenson Flenniken, Denver; Barbara McIntire, Colorado Springs, Colo.; Phyllis Preuss, Pompano Beach, Fla.; Nancy Roth Syms, Hollywood, Fla.; Anne Quast Welts, Mt. Vernon, Wash.; and Helen Sigel Wilson, Gladwyne, Pa.

Lowly Syracuse Ends Loss Streak

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
The lowly Syracuse Chiefs, who seem to have a permanent hold on the International League's cellar, have snapped a five-game losing streak.

The Chiefs squeaked by the sixth-place Buffalo Bisons Tuesday night on only five hits, three in the first inning and two in the seventh. But they turned the hits into two runs in each inning.

The Richmond Braves lost to the Jacksonville Suns 4-2 and the Toronto Maple Leafs edged Rochester 4-3 in other action Tuesday night. Columbus and Toledo were not scheduled.

Garth Patterson won the 1964 and 1965 riding titles at Monmouth Park, Oceanport, N.J., with 38 and 51 winners, respectively.

Koufax Chalks His 15th Win As Reds Fall

30-Game Season
Is Goal of Bums' Leading Hurler

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Sandy Koufax is halfway to a 30-game season, and Woody Fryman is just about halfway to Sandy Koufax.

Koufax gave up 10 hits Tuesday night but still won his 15th game as Los Angeles edged Cincinnati 1-0.

Koufax' victory gave him No. 15 earlier than ever before. Enroute to a 26-victory season last year, the 30-year-old left-hander posted his 15th on July 11.

The record of the Dodger ace now reads only three losses, 15 complete games in 20 starts, three shutouts and a 1.51 earned run average.

Fryman, meanwhile, has compiled a 7-3 mark and a 2.33 ERA while completing seven of 10 starts, the first of which he didn't make until May 13. By that time Koufax had started seven times.

And the 23-year-old left-hander actually gained his third shutout before Koufax, with all three coming in the last 19 days.

Fryman, playing in only his second year of professional ball, blanked Philadelphia on three hits, New York on one and Chicago on three. Following the one-hitter against the Mets, in which Fryman faced the minimum 27 batters, New York Manager Wes Westrum said:

"He's as fast as any left-hander I've seen in the league and faster than Sandy Koufax at a given time."

Fryman also has to be as stingy with walks as any left-hander in the league. He walked one batter Tuesday, which is the only base on balls he's allowed in three shutouts. Over-all, he's averaging one walk every 7.7 innings while Koufax is averaging one every 5.4.

Although Koufax may reach 30 victories before Fryman gets 20, the Pirate youngster has one consolation. He's outlasting Koufax seven to two.

In other National League games, St. Louis stopped San Francisco 3-1, Philadelphia defeated New York 3-1 and Atlanta downed Houston 9-4.

In the American League, California edged Detroit 4-3, Minnesota nipped Cleveland 4-3 and Boston whipped New York 7-1. Rain washed out Chicago at Washington.

The Dodgers got Koufax a run in the second inning, and he protected it the rest of the way. Jim Lefebvre walked, raced to third on John Roseboro's single and scored as John Kennedy singled. Jim Maloney suffered his fourth defeat against nine victories.

Billy Williams got all three Chicago hits off Fryman, who stopped Ron Santo's hitting streak at 28 games. Donn Clendenon hit a two-run homer for the Pirates while Jose Pagan collected three doubles and drove in two runs.

Brewer Is Pegged To Be Linebacker

CLEVELAND (AP) — John Brewer, an offensive end for the Cleveland Browns since 1962, will go back to the defense when he reports at the Hiram, Ohio, training camp later this month.

The Browns announced Tuesday the 6-foot-4, 245-pound Brewer signed his 1966 contract and will work out as a linebacker, at least until the club tries its rookies at the position.

Browns' Coach Blanton Collier said the move was made because "with Galen Fiss definitely planning to retire at the end of this season, we are going to need some help in our linebacking department."

K of C, Hills Team Still Unbeaten

The two top teams in the Mosquito League won their respective games Tuesday to remain knotted for the lead.

The Knights of Columbus slammed Circleville Lumber for 31 runs while holding them to 6. Hill Implement edged Block's Shoes, 7-5.

Both K of C and Hill's own perfect five-for-five marks in the loop. The closest competitor is Ankrom Lumber with one loss in four games.

Next Tuesday in the game of games the Knights and Hills meet head on and a leader will be decided. Both teams will be idle until then.

IN THE Knights 31-6 thumping of the Circleville Lumber, Mike Diltz and Brian Herron worked the mound route. They walked eight, fanned seven and allowed four hits.

The Circleville Lumber hurlers, Robert Kisor and Tony Blankenship, walked 19 batters. They struck out six and scattered 16 hits in four innings. Diltz led the Knights attack

Pickaway Edges Saltcreek, 20-19

Jim Mankin slammed a triple with two runners on base to power Pickaway to a 20-19 win Tuesday over Saltcreek in the seventh inning of Tri County Little League game which was continued from June 28.

At the end of six innings one week ago the score was tied at 16-16. The game was called because of darkness.

Last night Saltcreek scored three runs in the top half of the extra inning. But Pickaway bounced back with four to gain the win.

Third Earns 9-3 Win Over Savings

The Third National Bank strengthened its hold on second place in the Pony League standings Tuesday by posting a 9-3 decision over the Savings Bank.

Tom Bowers was the winning pitcher. After walking three, fanning six and allowing two hits, he was relieved in the top of the fourth by Chris MacKenzie.

MacKenzie walked two, whiffed one and was touched for one hit during his stint on the mound.

Dave Dresbach was the losing hurler. He walked five, fanned six and allowed two hits before retiring in favor of Rickey Jacobs in the third inning. Jacobs gave up two walks, fanned three and allowed two hits.

THE GAME, played on the main diamond at Ted Lewis Park, was called at the end of four innings because of the time limit.

Samuel King Jr., class of '69, will manage Yale's indoor track team next winter. He's from Honolulu.

General Electric, Kiwanis Win Babe Ruth League Tilts

General Electric stretched its lead in the Babe Ruth League Tuesday by mauling Logan Elm, 37-1, and Kiwanis handed Lindseys a 7-4 defeat.

GE now has seven straight wins without defeat, one of the best in the Circleville Youth Baseball Program. L. M. Butch holds down second with five wins and one loss.

Randy Martin, hurling for the Electricians, limited Logan Elm to two hits — singles by Harry Strawser and Bob Triplehorn. Steve Montgomery tallied the losers only run in the second frame.

Pitching for the losers were Triplehorn, Mike Moorehead, Steve Alkire and Kenny Short. Together they walked 11 without a strikeout and allowed 26 hits.

RICK CONGOVE paced the winners at the plate with a homer. Chuck Zimmerman, Ricky Sims, Dan Ogan, Gary Griebel, Tom Yeates, Steve Nelson and Martin clouted doubles for GE. Roger Fausnaugh had two doubles.

Zimmerman also tagged three singles, going four-for-seven. Nelson and Martin scored five times in six at bats to lead the tallying charge.

The Electricians marked only one in the bottom of the first after LE was blanked. In the second, when the losers scored their run, GE moved for 19.

They struck for 11 more in the third and six in the fourth.

Kiwanis used a big punch in the second frame to down Lindseys. They collected six runs in that inning, coasting the rest of the way.

Steve Richardson picked up the win for Kiwanis. Going the distance he walked four and fanned eight enroute to scattering eight hits.

Don Cordle worked for Lindsey and held Kiwanis to only five hits. He walked 12 and fanned 12 in the seven frame tilt. Ty Ankrom tagged a triple for the winners. P. Whaley added a double.

Chuck Walisa clobbered a double for the losers.

All-Star Grid Prep Starts

East-West Tilt Slated Saturday

ATLANTA (AP) — Sixteen West All-Stars have earned starting assignments as the rival All-America squads continue drills for Saturday's Coach-All-America football game.

Coach-of-the-Year Tommy Prothro said he had now seen enough to pick all but one of his defensive openers. Over on offense, five berths still are unsettled, including the quarterback job sought by $100,000 Atlanta Falcon bonus baby Randy Johnson and three-time All-Big Eight performer Gary Lane of Missouri.

Tommy Nois, the only other future Falcon in the West cast, has wrapped up one linebacking job and teaming with him will be Carl McAdams from Oklahoma.

The rest of the way on defense, said Prothro, the West will field a starting group of ends Aaron Brown of Minnesota and Jeff Smith of Southern Cal; tackles Gale Gillingham of Minnesota and Charlie Harper of Oklahoma State and middle guard Walt Barnes of Nebraska.

For the rival East, plans were not yet as firm. Duffy Daugherty's crew suffered the loss of Alabama end Tommy Tolleson, who pulled a hamstring muscle and will be sidelined.

Replacing the Falcon draftee was Pat Hodgson, the native Atlantan and three-year Georgia Star who is the property of the Washington Redskins.

Women Pros Await Test

$20,000 Tourney
Due in Cincinnati

CINCINNATI (AP) — Most of the lady pros have arrived in town and seven of them will get things rolling today in a preliminary to the $20,000 Buckeye Savings Golf Tournament to be played Friday, Saturday and Sunday.

Approximately 40 members of the Ladies Professional Golf Association tour will compete in the main event. They include Kathy Whitworth, who won the tournament here last year, and Sandra Spuzich, the part-time Indianapolis school teacher who only last Sunday won the Women's National Open crown.

But neither Miss Whitworth nor Miss Spuzich will be in action today when each of the seven competing pros play with the Cincinnati area women Gloria Armstrong and Althea Gloria Armstrong and Althea Gibson Darben, one time tennis champion, are the biggest names among the pros in today's field. The amateurs will include Sandra Jones, recent winner of the Cincinnati Women's Metropolitan crown, and Mrs. Sally Christiansen, the runner-up.

The better known lady pros will get into action Thursday in another pro-am which will have them playing with Cincinnati men amateurs.

The gal pros go to work in earnest Friday in quest of the $1,950 top prize for the 54-hole medal play tourney over Cloverbrook Country Club's 6,200-yard course with its par of 36-72.

On Friday and Saturday each of the lady pros will play with a Cincinnati area man pro in a best ball affair. The gals, of course, have to hole out all putts because their scores count in the 54-hole "ladies only" main tourney.

Ron Jackson, a rookie with the New York Knickerbockers, averaged 29.8 points a game for Clark College in Atlanta last season. He's a Chicago native and also played for Wisconsin.

Grid Coach Resigns at Logan Elm

The Logan Elm Board of Education Tuesday night accepted the resignation of James Colville as head football coach.

Colville told the board he has accepted the head grid position at Benton Harbor, Mich., at a sizeable increase in salary.

The board is currently accepting applications for a replacement for Colville.

In his one year at Logan Elm, Colville's team posted three wins, lost five and tied one. The Braves finished last in the Scioto Valley Conference last year with a 1-3 league record.

Aussie Sets Sights on British Title

MURFIELD, Scotland (AP) — Australia's Peter Thomson set out today to go one better than the legendary Harry Vardon and capture the British Open Golf title for the sixth time.

But men like Jack Nicklaus, Arnold Palmer, Gary Player and Tony Lema were standing in Thomson's way as the 72-hole championship got under way.

In the heyday of the British game, Harry Vardon of England won the open in 1898, 1899, 1903, 1911 and 1914 and became a golfing immortal.

Thompson won the title in 1954, 1955, 1956, 1958 and 1965.

Latest betting lists showed money pouring in for Thomson, whose odds have dipped to 10 to 1. Player, the South African star, is 6 to 1 although he insists: "My game is pretty poor."

Nicklaus, of Columbus, Ohio, remained the 7-2 favorite, with Palmer at 5 to 1 and Lema at 7 to 1.

The field of 130 top pros and a few amateurs are competing on a 6,887-yard, par 71 course.

U.S. Davis Cup Team Is Named

NEW YORK (AP) — Eight women amateur golfers, all veterans of Curtis Cup play, were named Tuesday to the team that will play Great Britain in the 14th Cup match at Hot Springs, Va., July 29 and 30.

Members of the team, as announced by the United States Golf Association, are:

Jean Ashley, Chanute, Kan.; Barbara Fay White Bodie, Shreveport, La.; Carol Sorenson Flenniken, Denver; Barbara McIntire, Colorado Springs, Colo.; Phyllis Preuss, Pompano Beach, Fla.; Nancy Roth Syms, Hollywood, Fla.; Anne Quast Welts, Mt. Vernon, Wash.; and Helen Sigel Wilson, Gladwyne, Pa.

Lowly Syracuse Ends Loss Streak

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The lowly Syracuse Chiefs, who seem to have a permanent hold on the International League's cellar, have snapped a five-game losing streak.

The Chiefs squeaked by the sixth-place Buffalo Bisons Tuesday night on only five hits, three in the first inning and two in the seventh. But they turned the hits into two runs in each inning.

The Richmond Braves lost to the Jacksonville Suns 4-2 and the Toronto Maple Leafs edged Rochester 4-3 in other action Tuesday night. Columbus and Toledo were not scheduled.

Garth Patterson won the 1964 and 1965 riding titles at Monmouth Park, Oceanport, N.J., with 38 and 51 winners, respectively.

Koufax Chalks His 15th Win As Reds Fall

30-Game Season
Is Goal of Bums' Leading Hurler

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Sandy Koufax is halfway to a 30-game season, and Woody Fryman is just about halfway to Sandy Koufax.

Koufax gave up 10 hits Tuesday night but still won his 15th game as Los Angeles edged Cincinnati 1-0.

Koufax' victory gave him No. 15 earlier than ever before. Enroute to a 26-victory season last year, the 30-year-old left-hander posted his 15th on July 11.

The record of the Dodger ace now reads only three losses, 15 complete games in 20 starts, three shutouts and a 1.51 earned run average.

Fryman, meanwhile, has compiled a 7-3 mark and a 2.53 ERA while completing seven of 10 starts, the first of which he didn't make until May 13. By that time Koufax had started seven times.

And the 23-year-old left-hander actually gained his third shutout before Koufax, with all three coming in the last 19 days.

Fryman, playing in only his second year of professional ball, blanked Philadelphia on three hits, New York on one and Chicago on three. Following the one-hitter against the Mets, in which Fryman faced the minimum 27 batters, New York Manager Wes Westrum said:

"He's as fast as any left-hander I've seen in the league and faster than Sandy Koufax at a given time."

Fryman also has to be as stingy with walks as any left-hander in the league. He walked one batter Tuesday, which is the only base on balls he's allowed in three shutouts. Over-all, he's averaging one walk every 7.7 innings while Koufax is averaging one every 5.4.

Although Koufax may reach 30 victories before Fryman gets 20, the Pirate youngster has one consolation. He's outlasting Koufax seven to two.

In other National League games, St. Louis stopped San Francisco 3-1, Philadelphia defeated New York 3-1 and Atlanta downed Houston 9-4.

In the American League, California edged Detroit 4-3, Minnesota nipped Cleveland 4-3 and Boston whipped New York 7-1. Rain washed out Chicago at Washington.

The Dodgers got Koufax a run in the second inning, and he protected it the rest of the way. Jim Lefebvre walked, raced to third on John Roseboro's single and scored as John Kennedy singled. Jim Maloney suffered his fourth defeat against nine victories.

Billy Williams got all three Chicago hits off Fryman, who stopped Ron Santo's hitting streak at 28 games. Donn Clendenon hit a two-run homer for the Pirates while Jose Pagan collected three doubles and drove in two runs.

Brewer Is Pegged To Be Linebacker

CLEVELAND (AP) — John Brewer, an offensive end for the Cleveland Browns since 1962, will go back to the defense when he reports at the Hiram, Ohio, training camp later this month.

The Browns announced Tuesday the 6-foot-4, 245-pound Brewer signed his 1966 contract and will work out as a linebacker, at least until the club tries its rookies at the position.

Browns' Coach Blanton Collier said the move was made because "with Galen Fiss definitely planning to retire at the end of this season, we are going to need some help in our linebacking department."

K of C, Hills Team Still Unbeaten

The two top teams in the Mosquito League won their respective games Tuesday to remain knotted for the lead.

The Knights of Columbus slammed Circleville Lumber for 31 runs while holding them to 6. Hill Implement edged Block's Shoes, 7-5.

Both K of C and Hill's own perfect five-for-five marks in the loop. The closest competitor is Ankrom Lumber with one loss in four games.

Next Tuesday in the game of games the Knights and Hills meet head on and a leader will be decided. Both teams will be idle until then.

IN THE Knights 31-6 thumping of the Circleville Lumber, Mike Diltz and Brian Herron worked the mound route. They walked eight, fanned seven and allowed four hits.

The Circleville Lumber hurlers, Robert Kisor and Tony Blankenship, walked 19 batters. They struck out six and scattered 16 hits in four innings.

Diltz led the Knights attack

Pickaway Edges Saltcreek, 20-19

Jim Mankin slammed a triple with two runners on base to power Pickaway to a 20-19 win Tuesday over Saltcreek in the seventh inning of Tri County Little League game which was continued from June 28.

At the end of six innings one week ago the score was tied at 16-16. The game was called because of darkness.

Last night Saltcreek scored three runs in the top half of the extra inning. But Pickaway bounced back with four to gain the win.

Young Pitchers OK'd for AL Stars

BOSTON (AP) — A young staff of eight pitchers, including four chosen for the first time, was named to the American League All-Star team today to face the National League in the annual midsummer baseball classic July 12 at St. Louis.

Minnesota Manager Sam Mele, who earned the honor of leading the American All-Stars by piloting the Twins to the pennant last season, picked a pitching squad of four right-handers and four left-handers with an average age of 25.

Mele, whose choices were announced by league headquarters, named two Cleveland pitchers, and one each from Detroit, Baltimore, Minnesota, Kansas City, Washington and New York. Pitchers for the California Angels, Chicago White Sox and Boston Red Sox were bypassed.

The right-handers selected were Gary Bell of Cleveland, Denny McLain of Detroit, Jim Hunter of Kansas City and Mel Stottlemyre of New York. The southpaws were Sam McDowell of the Indians, Steve Barber of Baltimore, Jim Kaat of the Twins and Pete Richert of Washington.

McLain, Kaat, Barber and Hunter were named to the team for the first time. McDowell was the losing pitcher in a 6-5 defeat by the National League last year, when he was nicked for the tie-breaking run in the seventh inning.

Bell was tagged for two runs in three innings in the All-Star Game in 1960, while Stottlemyre did not see action as a member of the American squad last year.

Bell is the oldest of the eight at 29. Hunter, 20, is the youngest. McLain is 22, McDowell 23, Stottlemyre 25, Richert 26, Barber 27 and Kaat 28.

The selection of McDowell and Stottlemyre surprised some observers. McDowell has a 6-2 record, but the young fire-baller has been sidelined much of the season by arm trouble. Stottlemyre has a 7-9 record with the second division Yankees.

McLain boasts the most victories with a 12-3 record. Barber has a 9-2 mark with the league-leading Orioles. Kaat, who won 18 games last year, is 10-6, while Bell, reconverted to a starter, is 8-4.

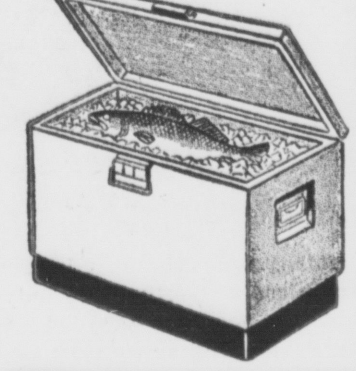

Hunter, who hasn't had much time to spend his $75,000 bonus, is 8-6 as a major league sophomore, while Richert, a National League castoff, owns an 8-8 record.

The starting fielders were chosen in balloting by managers, players and coaches. The remainder of the 25-player squad, coaches, batting practice pitchers etc. will be announced Friday.

Views on Television — Radio

By RICHARD BASEHART
(For CYNTHIA LOWRY)

EDITOR'S NOTE—Now a star of an ABC science-fiction adventure series, Richard Basehart has a list of acting credits stretching from Broadway and "Othello" to films including "La Karamazov."

HOLLYWOOD (AP) —People seem continually surprised to find me playing Adm. Nelson on "Voyage to the Bottom of the Sea," and inevitably I am asked to compare acting in a science-fiction series for television with the work I've done on the stage and screen.

Most actors who have worked in all three media will prefer acting on the stage, and I'm no exception. Only on the stage is the success of the production, in any given performance, almost solely dependent upon the actors. The producer and director are relegated to the audience before the opening-night curtain goes up.

Motion pictures and television are the director's media. With the cameraman and the film editor, he determines what the audience will eventually see, not the actor. On-stage an actor creates and hopes to refine continually his characterization before a live audience. A film is done in disconnected fragments in the relative isolation of a sound stage.

In favor of stage performance.

Young Pitchers OKd for AL Stars

BOSTON (AP) — A young staff of eight pitchers, including four chosen for the first time, was named to the American League All-Star team today to face the National League in the annual midsummer baseball classic July 12 at St. Louis.

Minnesota Manager Sam Mele, who earned the honor of leading the American All-Stars by piloting the Twins to the pennant last season, picked a pitching staff of four right-handers and four left-handers with an average age of 25.

Mele, whose choices were announced by league headquarters, named two Cleveland pitchers, and one each from Detroit, Baltimore, Minnesota, Kansas City, Washington and New York. Pitchers for the California Angels, Chicago White Sox and Boston Red Sox were bypassed.

The right-handers selected were Gary Bell of Cleveland, Denny McLain of Detroit, Jim Hunter of Kansas City and Mel Stottlemyre of New York. The southpaws were Sam McDowell of the Indians, Steve Barber of Baltimore, Jim Kaat of the Twins and Pete Richert of Washington.

McLain, Kaat, Barber and Hunter were named to the team for the first time. McDowell was the losing pitcher in a 6-5 defeat by the National League last year, when he was nicked for the tie-breaking run in the seventh inning.

Bell was tagged for two runs in three innings in the All-Star Game in 1960, while Stottlemyre did not see action as a member of the American squad last year.

Bell is the oldest of the eight at 29. Hunter, 20, is the youngest. McLain is 22, McDowell 23, Stottlemyre 25, Richert 26, Barber 27 and Kaat 28.

The selection of McDowell and Stottlemyre surprised some observers. McDowell has a 6-2 record, but the young fire-baller has been sidelined much of the season by arm trouble. Stottlemyre has a 7-9 record with the second division Yankees.

McLain boasts the most victories with a 12-3 record. Barber has a 9-2 mark with the league-leading Orioles. Kaat, who won 18 games last year, is 10-6, while Bell, reconverted to a starter, is 8-4.

Hunter, who hasn't had much time to spend his $75,000 bonus, is 8-6 as a major league sophomore, while Richert, a National League castoff, owns an 8-8 record.

The starting fielders were chosen in balloting by managers, players and coaches. The remainder of the 25-player squad, coaches, batting practice pitchers etc. will be announced Friday.

Views on Television — Radio

By RICHARD BASEHART
(For CYNTHIA LOWRY)
EDITOR'S NOTE—Now a star of an ABC science-fiction adventure series, Richard Basehart has a list of acting credits stretching from Broadway and "Othello" to films including "La Karamazov."

HOLLYWOOD (AP) —People seem continually surprised to find me playing Adm. Nelson on "Voyage to the Bottom of the Sea," and inevitably I am asked to compare acting in a science-fiction series for television with the work I've done on the stage and screen.

Most actors who have worked in all three media will prefer acting on the stage, and I'm no exception. Only on the stage is the success of the production, in any given performance, almost solely dependent upon the actors. The producer and director are relegated to the audience before the opening-night curtain goes up.

Motion pictures and television are the director's media. With the cameraman and the film editor, he determines what the audience will eventually see, not the actor. On-stage an actor creates and hopes to refine continually his characterization before a live audience. A film is done in disconnected fragments in the relative isolation of a sound stage.

In favoring stage performances, however, too many actors fail to mention the merits of the other two mediums. Not the least of these is the financial reward for film work, which far exceeds that of the stage. But even setting finances aside, films and television have unique attractions for an actor. A stage performance, as an art form, is lost when the curtain comes down. And the relative permanency of a motion picture, if it was well done, appeals to all of us. On the other hand, cringing before television's late movies, most actors who have worked in them might settle for a deal less permanency. Then, too, the film offers the chance for greater variety, both vocally and physically. With a camera and microphone close at hand, a whisper or a raised eyebrow can convey an idea that would be lost on the stage.

In stage rehearsals a cast always hits a sag period, usually about the third week, during which an element of boredom creeps in. Since a movie company rehearses intensively just a few pages of script a day, the sag period comes more quickly, and the cameras often record it, resulting in an uneven product.

Television, however, is strangely enhanced by the pressure of time. It combines many of film making's methods for decreasing error while offering some of the immediacy of the stage. There is no sag period because time doesn't allow it—the actor must deal with what is right here, right now.

As a result, there are fewer cases of nerves among television actors. You do the best you can at any particular moment. It doesn't always work, but at least you are always on the upgrade. The actor adds shading to his character over a season or two, not in the course of a single story.

News of World in Brief

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—The Ohio school bus battle with state officials opening the second round of bids submitted under a centralized pricing plan.

State officials, acting as bidding agents for 280 local school districts, hoped that this afternoon's openings would bring facturers who did not submit prices at a session last month. Chassis manufacturers and dealers submitted bids on schedule last month, but no bids were received from body manufacturers or their agents.

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Ohio Democrats plan a $100-a-plate fund raising dinner in the Ohio Expositions Center at the state fairgrounds Oct. 8, party leaders announced today. Possible speakers being considered are Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey, U. S. Senators Robert and Edward Kennedy, and U.S. Postmaster General Lawrence O'Brien.

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—The Department of Natural Resources will dedicate 30 new vacation cabins at Burr Oak State Park near Gloucester next Monday, with Gov. James A. Rhodes participating in the ceremonies.

The new housekeeping cabins are situated just off Ohio 78, five miles northeast of Gouster. Reservations for the cabins are now being accepted by the department.

NEW CARLISLE, Ohio (AP) —Cavin Toler, 83-year-old semi-invalid who saved his 21 month old grandson from a fire May 17, is dead.

Toler was treated for smoke inhalation after the fire at the house where he, the grandson and the boy's parents lived. He had managed to drag himself to the boy's crib, then drag the boy out a back door.

He could not get himself out.

NEW PRESIDENT — The Rev. Henry Walters, pastor of the First Presbyterian Church, will preside for the first time as president of the Circleville Rotary Club at noon Thursday. The luncheon meeting will be held at St. Philip's Church Parish House. Ned Harden, local auto dealer, will be the program speaker. His subject will be "The European Jaunt." He will tell about the recent European trip sponsored by Rotary International which involved 32 area people.

Miss Brehmer's Science Project Is Displayed

Marion Brehmer, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. R. L. Brehmer Jr. and a tenth-grade student of Circleville High School, has been honored with the opportunity to display her science project at the Center of Science and Industry in Columbus throughout July.

The project, "Mass Spectrum Analysis," earned a rating of superior at the District Science Fair Mar. 19 and a superior at the State Science Day in April 16, sponsored by the Ohio Academy of Science.

but called for help and was dragged out by a neighbor.

Toler, who used a walking aid, had been reported in good health after the fire. But he suffered a stroke over the weekend and died Monday in a Springfield hospital.

PASADENA, Calif. (AP) — Scientists, after days of trying, reestablished contact today with Surveyor 1, the photo-snapping spacecraft on the moon. It had been silent during the two-week frigid lunar night, and experts feared its battery might be dead.

Survivor quickly began "talking back" this morning after the heat of lunar day revived it.

NEW YORK (AP)—The hottest spot in the nation Tuesday was Palm Springs, Calif., where the thermometer registered 117 degrees. The overnight low of 90 degrees was recorded at Reno, Nev.

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Labor Department was anything but optimistic today over the possibility of heading off a strike against the five major airlines.

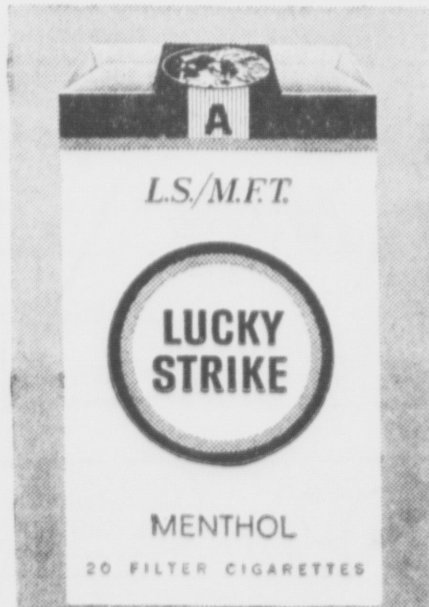

"We've got a real problem," said one source. "They're still a long way off and unless there is an agreement to postpone it, there'll be an airline strike."

The AFL - CIO International Association of Machinists has told its 35,000 member mechanics to be prepared to strike the airlines — Eastern, National, United — at 6 a. m. Friday if no agreement is reached by then.

LONDON (AP)—Prime Minister Harold Wilson beat back today a leftist claim in his Labor party demanding Britain break away from backing U.S. policy in Viet Nam.

The rebels, who had claimed overwhelming support, were crushed by a vote of 214 to 46 at a closed-door meeting of Labor members of the House of Commons.

Council . . .

(Continued from Page One) ment to a previous ordinance concerning assessments for Sanitary Sewer District No. 2. The new provisions allow an additional period for property owners to make payments.

Collection of project assessments was held up here for about three years due to a suit filed by property owners. Litigation was concluded last month following an agreement between the city and the plaintiffs.

A revision of the assessment figures calls for a reduction of $7,000 for certain property owners, with this amount to be assumed by the city. The aggregate cost of the project was set at $127,867.21.

Under provisions of the amendment, property owners will have an additional 30 days to pay cash for their assessments. The alternative will be to add the individual amounts to the tax duplicate for collection.

A THIRD ordinance gaining approval authorized the appropriation of $500 to account for maintenance of traffic lights.

Two resolutions were held to first reading. One concerned the proper transfer of state-owned canal land to the city and the other the release of performance bond for two sections in the Garden City Subdivision.

The transfer pertains to land that was once part of the Old Ohio-Erie Canal, located just off W. Mound St. The state has offered to give the area to the city free of cost.

However, D. E. Goodchild, whose construction firm is headquartered in the same vicinity, has acquired several leases there, along with his mother. He said available land in the area is necessary for operation of his business and a determining factor in keeping the firm within the city.

City officials have indicated they would accept the land from the state. But solon David Crawford moved the resolution be held to first reading, a step that will allow more time to study the matter.

Release of the Garden City performance bond was delayed after Councilman Frank Barnhill said a protruding catch basin lid problems still exists. Although the Service Department work had been satisfactorily completed, council hinted the lid cover difficulty should be solved before the bonds are released.

Man Fined $25

Donald Danner, Laurelvile, was fined $25 and costs by Municipal Court Judge Sterling Lamb for being drunk and disorderly.

The charge was filed against Danner by H. E. Bennett, manager of the Starlight Drive-In Theater.

Man Bound to Jury

Harvey Lee Jordan, Chillicothe was bound to the next Tuesday of the Pickaway County Grand Jury under $500 bond Tuesday by Municipal Judge Sterling M. Lamb.

He was charged with non-support of minor children.

Judge Ammer Sends Four Men to Prison

Four men were sentenced to prison Tuesday afternoon by Pickaway County Common Pleas Judge William Ammer.

All four men appeared before the court on bills of information supplied by Prosecuting Attorney Robert H. Huffer. In so doing, they waived their rights to a hearing before the grand jury.

Daniel Allen Boysel, Darbyville, was sentenced to the Ohio State Penitentiary for 1-20 years after pleading guilty to charges of uttering and publishing a forged instrument.

Robert Stevens, Ashville, was also sentenced to the state penitentiary for 1-20 years for forgery.

Two Portsmouth men, Bruce Ishmel White and Harold Edward Holsinger, entered pleas of guilty to forcible entry of a house in the daytime and grand larceny. Each was sentenced to the Mansfield Reformatory for periods of 1-5 years and 1-7 years. The judge noted the

"It was a high day for sorties, but not a record day," the spokesman said.

The raiding fighter-bombers also hammered at bridges, barracks, storage areas, anti-aircraft sites and other installations in the southern panhandle as well as the Red River Valley.

In the only major ground action reported, a government regiment of about 3,000 men clashed four times with Communist forces 62 miles southwest of Saigon Tuesday. A spokesman said the Vietnamese troops killed 33 Viet Cong and captured a 57mm recoilless rifle, four machine guns and 27 other weapons. He said government casualties were light.

But American pilots flew the unusually high number of 443 sorties in South Viet Nam Tuesday, claiming damage or destruction of about 500 Viet Cong hits and fortifications and causing 55 secondary explosions. They also reported possible killing 28 Viet Cong.

South Vietnamese air force pilots flew 252 sorties.

U.S. B52 bombers hammered at two targets today: a Viet Cong base camp and training center near Cambodia 60 miles northwest of Saigon and a Viet Cong troop concentration 38 miles southwest of Tuy Hoa, on the central coast.

A U.S. spokesman announced the loss of three small two-seat observation planes in South Viet Nam today. One was shot down 25 miles southwest of Quang Ngai and another was shot down a mile away. The third crashed 20 miles southwest of Da Nang, but the cause was not known. The two fliers in each of the three planes were rescued by helicopters.

On the political front, Premier Nguyen Cao Ky set up a special disciplinary committee of 20 generals with court-martial powers to judge five other generals involved in the recent Buddhist-inspired revolt in the northern provinces.

The latter included Lt. Gen. Nguyen Chanh Thi, Ky's rival whose dismissal as commander of the army's northernmost 1st Corps area last March precipitated the unrest, and Ton That Dinh, Huynh Van Cao, Nguyen Can Chuan and Pham Xuan Nguan.

PASADENA, Calif. (AP) — Scientists, after days of trying, reestablished contact today with Surveyor 1, the photo-snapping spacecraft on the moon. It had been silent during the two-week frigid lunar night, and experts feared its battery might be dead.

NEW YORK (AP)—The hottest spot in the nation today was Palm Springs, Calif., where the thermometer registered 117 degrees. The overnight low of 90 degrees was recorded at Reno, Nev.

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Labor Department was anything but optimistic today over the possibility of heading off a strike against the five major airlines.

"We've got a real problem," said one source. "They're still a long way off and unless there is an agreement to postpone it, there'll be an airline strike."

The AFL - CIO International Association of Machinists has told its 35,000 member mechanics to be prepared to strike the airlines — Eastern, National, United — at 6 a. m. Friday if no agreement is reached by then.

LONDON (AP)—Prime Minister Harold Wilson beat back today a leftist block in his Labor party demanding Britain break away from backing U.S. policy in Viet Nam.

ment to a previous ordinance concerning assessments for Sanitary Sewer District No. 2. The new provisions allow an additional period for property owners to make payments.

Collection of project assessments was held up here for about three years due to a suit filed by property owners. Litigation was concluded last month following an agreement between the city and the plaintiffs.

A revision of the assessment figures calls for a reduction of $7,000 for certain property owners, with this amount to be assumed by the city. The aggregate cost of the project was set at $127,867.21.

Under provisions of the amendment, property owners will have an additional 30 days to pay cash for their assessments. The alternative will be to add the individual amounts to the tax duplicate for collection.

A THIRD ordinance gaining approval authorized the appropriation of $500 to account for maintenance of traffic lights.

Two resolutions were held to first reading. One concerned the proper transfer of state-owned canal land to the city and the other the release of performance bond for two sections in the Garden City Subdivision.

The transfer pertains to land that was once part of the Old Ohio-Erie Canal, located just off W. Mount St. The state has offered to give the area to the city free of cost.

However, D. E. Goodchild, whose construction firm is headquartered in the same vicinity, has acquired several leases there, along with his mother. He said available land in the area is necessary for operation of his business and a determining factor in keeping the firm within the city.

City officials have indicated they would accept the land from the state. But solon David Crawford moved the resolution be held to first reading, a step that will allow more time to study the matter.

Release of the Garden City performance bond was delayed after Councilman Frank Barnhill said a protruding catch basin lid problems still exists. Although the Service Department work had been satisfactorily completed, council hinted the lid cover difficulty should be solved before the bonds are released.
